Come to Prove Whether American Methods Shall Be Tolerated.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, May 27.—The Cabinet will meet in extraordinary session tomorrow to reach a final decision on the protest to be forwarded to America on the new immigration bill, which contains an exclusion clause applying to Japanese.

The Cabinet discussed the matter this morning. The Foreign Office for some days has been engaged in the drafting of a formal protest on the new bill, and it is understood that this draft will be laid before the Ministers tomorrow. If approved, the protest will be cabled immediately to Ambassador Hanabara at Washington for presentation to the American Secretary of State.

Note Strongly Worded.

While it has been understood that the protest will be based on alleged violation of the new measure of rights given Japan under a treaty with the United States, officials here decline to discuss its contents prior to its announcement by the Cabinet and presentation to Secretary Hughes. Newspaper reports, however, declare that the protest will be strongly worded, though dignified in character.

It was reported that the protest would be based on alleged violation of Japan's treaty rights under the first article of the treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and Japan.

Article 1 of the treaty provides for equal treatment of the subjects and citizens of the contracting parties as to residence and travel to carry on trade.

The statement of President Coolidge, accompanying his signature of the American immigration bill, was described by a Foreign Office spokesman today as a source of great comfort to Japan. This spokesman said it was believed that the statement would be effective in some degree in lessening agitation against America here.

From the same source it also was learned that officials here understood Mr. Coolidge's position and appreciated the stand he took.

Other officials said they feared that the public effect of the statement would be small, as the masses of the Japanese nation, not comprehending the niceties of the situation, would see only the fact that they were excluded from the United States, which they consider a national insult.

Bitter Press Comment.

The Yozu Choho, a Jingo newspaper, commenting on the signing of the bill by President Coolidge, says: "The final enactment of the immigration law, how little regard Americans have for Japan's reasonable complaint. The final action was carefully premeditated, without haste, showing a conviction that it is possible for Japan to be ignored without danger to the United States. The time has come for the Japanese nation to prove whether the American way of dealing with international affairs shall be tolerated by a nation with any national pride."

LAW WOULD CUT
SOUTHERN EUROPE

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Steps have been taken by the Labor Department to assure effective administration of the new immigration law, when it goes into force, July 1, including the re-drafting of regulations governing national quotas. These quotas under the new act amount to 2 per cent of the number of nationals of the respective nations resident in the United States at the time of the 1920 census, and will result in a considerable restriction of immigration over the present law, as well as changing the greatest immigration flow from the countries of Southern Europe to the Nordic countries of Northern Europe.

Post-Dispatch to Broadcast the National Convention Proceedings

RADIO Station KSD, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, will be one of several stations which will broadcast all of the proceedings of the Republican National Convention, which will open in Cleveland, June 10, and the Democratic National Convention, in New York, June 24. National conventions have never before been broadcast.

It will not be necessary for listeners in or near St. Louis to have tube sets to hear this convention broadcasting as the radio impulses will be brought by wire to the broadcasting station on the roof of the Post-Dispatch Building and sent out on the air from there. It will, in effect, be local broadcasting, though the sounds will come from hundreds of miles away.

This unprecedented radio service will include not only the proceedings and music of the conventions, but also illuminating explanations by an announcer who will tell just what is going on, with comment on the significance of important happenings.

Station KSD will be prepared to give continuous broadcasting service while the conventions are under way and will broadcast sessions whether day or night. Twenty-four-hour daily service will be maintained whenever the situation requires it.

C. B. ISMAY, SHIP OWNER,
DIES OF SLEEPING SICKNESSBaffling Disease Is on Increase in England—150 Cases in Birmingham.

LONDON, May 27.—The death from sleeping sickness of a man as prominent as C. Bower Ismay, ship owner and brother of J. Bruce Ismay, one of the largest ship owners in the empire, has had the effect of focusing public attention on the alarming spread of the mysterious disease, technically known as encephalitis lethargica, in a manner more pronounced than the deaths of many unknown individuals. The disease has always been sporadic in England, but the annual average of cases never exceeded 500 until 1921, when more than 1000 were registered.

Since that time there has been a gradual increase until during the last two months the weekly average of cases officially reported has been between 250 and 300, with a mortality of from 12 to 21 per cent in towns, which were chiefly affected, such as London, Birmingham, Sheffield, Bristol and Manchester. Birmingham alone, which has suffered most, has had 150 cases since the beginning of the year.

The Ministry of health and medical research bodies are engaged in an investigation of the disease, but up to the present, without being able to throw any real light either upon its causation or its cure.

SCIENTIST APPROACHES CRATER
OF VOLCANO IN ERUPTIONDiscovers Mouth of Kiluea Has Nearly Doubled in Area in Last Few Days.

HONOLULU, May 27.—One violent eruption and 50 minor ones comprised the activity of Kiluea volcano, which has been in eruption at intervals for several weeks, ending at midnight last night. The violent eruption occurred last night. Only gravel and sand were emitted.

O. H. Emerson, volcanologist on duty at Kiluea, made an exploration toward the mouth of the crater yesterday. He found it had been extended to nearly double its original area within the last few days by avalanches crashing down from the lip to the depths below. The mud near the crater was a foot and a half in depth, he reported.

There was an earthquake in the volcano region at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Perfect Market-PlaceMETHODISTS' BAN ON AMUSEMENTS LIFTEDProhibition Against Dancing, Card Playing and Theaters Removed.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 27.—The Methodist ban upon specific amusements was lifted today by the Methodist Episcopal General Conference here. A minority report forbidding theater attendance on Sundays and specifying dancing and attendance on immoral plays as prohibited was tabled, 460 to 235.

The clause of the church discipline abrogated today forbids dancing, card playing, theater-going and attendance on races and circuses. The discipline still prohibits in general terms those amusements "that cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus."

The little debate, Dr. George Elliott of Detroit presented the majority report of a committee on the state of the church, and W. M. Short of Fort Worth, Tex., spoke for the minority report.

"We are not beating a retreat. We are going forward," Dr. Elliott said. "Religion must appeal to the conscience and it is the conscience of men that must be treated. This new law goes back to Wesley, and goes forward to a time when law shall be no more because written in the hearts of men. Preachers now will stand in their pulpits, not with a policeman's club, but with the shepherds' crook in their hands. They will go along on a new program for the saving of souls."

"Sunday theaters are working a great hardship on the churches," Mr. Short said. "Dancing is one of the great causes of divorce. People will say that the Methodist Church has retreated if the minority report is not adopted."

(The original rule of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, did not specify the amusements that could not be used "in the name of Jesus.")

The clause repealed today was adopted about 48 years ago. Today's action was in keeping with a recommendation made in the address of the Bishops earlier in the month.

An attempt to change the wording of the Apostles' Creed to eliminate the word Catholic was defeated by a narrow margin in the general conference yesterday.

U. S. SUES COCA COLA CO. FOR $6,833,469 IN INCOME TAXGovernment Charges Fraudulent Return Was Made for Year 1919.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 27.—Suit for $6,833,469 was filed in United States District Court here today against the Coca-Cola Co., alleging unpaid income and excess profits taxes for 1919 and a 50 per cent penalty assessed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for the alleged making of a fraudulent and false return.

The Government alleged that the company paid income and excess profits taxes totaling $1,548,184 for 1919, when a tax of $6,103,829 should have been paid.

"G. E. STRINGFELLOW," Officials of the New Jersey Manufacturers' Association, when asked about the company's action squared with the association's plan of campaign propaganda, referred inquiries to Philip Bird of Trenton, spokesman for the organization. He was said to be on his way to Massachusetts.

FRANKFORT, Germany, May 27.—Deneufville & Co., one of the oldest private banks in Germany, which was founded 275 years ago, is in serious difficulty owing to overtrading of its credits.

The Frankfort Bankers' Association has decided to assist the bank, but with the understanding that the venerable institution would quietly get out of business.

About Reports of Plan to Influence Votes.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 27.—Adoption of the soldier bonus, partisan inquiries at Washington and failure of Congress to pass the Mellon tax reduction were cited to discharged employees of the Edison Storage Battery Co., West Orange, N. J., as reasons why they lost their jobs.

F. A. Gillman, secretary of the New Jersey Manufacturers' Association, said he was uninformed about reports that the Edison company was pioneer in a business retraining program fostered by the association to influence the votes of workers this fall.

G. E. Stringfellow, general manager of the storage battery company, which is one of a large group of Edison manufacturing units at West Orange, signed printed slips which notified 107 employees their services were no longer required, because political turmoil and ill-advised legislation made imperative a curtailment of production.

"You never before furnished printed reasons for the discharge of employees, did you?" Stringfellow was asked yesterday.

"No," he admitted. "I came to the conclusion, however, that when a man loses his job he should know why."

Loss of Confidence.

"Weren't you aware that such a course at this time would inevitably influence the political opinions and votes of the men discharged?"

"Well," answered Stringfellow, "I never thought of that. It never occurred to me."

"Why should investigations at Washington force a reduction in the number of your employees?"

"Well, after the inquiries got under way many of our customers began to lose confidence in the Government and cut down or stopped their buying."

When Stringfellow's attention was called to the fact that on Friday, the day his employees received notice, no final action had been taken on the tax bill, he said it was certain the Mellon plan was not being put through as originally proposed.

Text of Notice.
The notice which each of the 107 discharged employees of the Edison Storage Battery Co. received read as follows:

"To the employees whom we must let go: We find it necessary to reduce production on account of bad business conditions which I believe are brought about by:

"1. Partisan political investigations at Washington.

"2. Passage of the soldier bonus bill.

"3. Failure of Congress to adopt the Mellon tax reduction plan."

"There seems to be little relief in sight, unless business men capable of dealing with business problems are elected to public office. We are forced to curtail production, which means we must let you and 106 other men go, not because your service is unsatisfactory, but due to business conditions over which we have no control, as outlined above."

"G. E. STRINGFELLOW," Officials of the New Jersey Manufacturers' Association, when asked about the company's action squared with the association's plan of campaign propaganda, referred inquiries to Philip Bird of Trenton, spokesman for the organization. He was said to be on his way to Massachusetts.

Eight of Crew Rescued When Nova Scotian Trawler Founders.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 27.—Heavy running seas caused the death of nine of the crew of the Grimsby trawler, Mikado, which went ashore on Forchu Island, Cape Breton, Sunday night, according to word received here.

Capt. Alonso Greenlaw of the Ocean Eagle, which rescued eight of the men, said it was necessary for them to jump from the rigging of the sunken boat into the ocean and grasp lines thrown from the rescue boat.

PLAY PRESENTED IN BERLIN IS BASED ON
HAYMARKET RIOTSSpecial Cable to the Post-Dispatch
(Copyright, 1924.)

BERLIN, May 27.—A REVOLUTIONARY and a dramatic interpretation of the Haymarket riots in Chicago was staged for the first time Monday night on the huge Berlin people's stage when the drama, "Flags," by the essayist, Alphonse Paquet, had its first performance.

There is no real plot. The play opens with magic lantern pictures of historical persons taken from life and then shows the Haymarket. Then the screen gives reports of the event taken from the Chicago Daily News. The bomb throwing is made to appear to have been the work of the agent Provocateur paid by industrialist McShure. Then the trial scenes are given before Judge Gary.

The play was received with huge enthusiasm by the revolutionary population who attended.

MONTH THUS FAR COOLEST MAY ON RECORD FOR CITYMean Temperature for First 26 Days 58.5 Degrees—Rainfall Under High Mark.

If there should be some prolonged hot weather next July—a thing that happens sometimes to the best climatic cities—St. Louisans will be able to look back upon the coolest May on record here.

Some may add, "and the wettest," but that is just an impression which the official records do not bear out.

The mean temperature, average of daily high and low marks, for the first 26 days of May, has been 58.5 degrees. In 1907, which had the coolest May on record up to this time, the mean for the same 26 days was 59.3. The average mean temperature for the whole month of May, over a 50-year period, is 60.9.

In May, 1907, there was one colder day than any recorded this month, for on May 11 that day the low reading was 35 degrees. The lowest this month has been 42, on the fourteenth. In both years, the high mark for the first 26 days of May was the same, 86 degrees.

Up to the rainfall of yesterday afternoon and last night, which was 2.4 inches, the prospect was that the rainfall for May would be about the normal amount, which is 4.52 inches. With the latest rain added, the rainfall for this portion of May is 1.3 inches more than normal. It will reach some more heavy rains to reach the high mark of some recent years. In 1919 the May rainfall was 7.86 inches. May is normally the wettest month of the year here, except June, for which the mean rainfall is 4.57 inches.

EBERT CALLS LEADERS INTO CONFERENCES ON MINISTRY

Dr. Hergt, Chief of the Nationalists, Unfriendly to Dawes Plan, Is First to See President.

MARX-STRESEMANN CABINET RESIGNS

Attempt to Form a Bourgeois Coalition Fails When Incumbents Refuse to Aid Von Tirpitz.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, May 27. — President Ebert, in pursuance of his constitutional task of finding a Chancellor capable of forming a Cabinet commanding support of the Reichstag in succession to the Marx-Stresemann Cabinet, today received Dr. Hergt, the nationalist leader, and after him in the order of party strength in the Reichstag, the leaders of the other parties with the exception of the communists and the extreme nationalists. The President's conference with Hergt, it is understood, was futile.

The Government's resignation resulted from a breakdown of the long-drawn-out attempts to construct a straight bourgeois coalition which could work with the Reichstag as composed on the basis of the recent elections. The Nationalists, avowed opponents of the Dawes plan, refused to meet the middle parties' conditions, calling for endorsement of the Marx Government's policies as a prerequisite to the formation of such a bourgeois coalition. Instead they renewed their demands last night in a resolution adopted at a lengthy Nationalist caucus yesterday, that the middle parties refused even to reply to this pronouncement, and the Cabinet resignation followed.

Chancellor Marx is credited with the intention of presenting a reconstituted ministry to the Reichstag, making a declaration of policy with reference to the Dawes report and leaving the decision to the Deputies.

The Marx Government, supported by the moderate parties, has insisted upon acceptance of the reparations experts' report and with the aid of the Socialists could command a majority in the Reichstag in the coalition remain.

The Nationalists, in their opposition to the reparations report, have insisted on reservations which would kill it. The Populists, the most reactionary of all the parties, has denounced the experts' scheme altogether.

The new Reichstag gives every sign of being quarrelsome, sickly infant, likely to die early.

Old Guard Reception.

From early morning, the massive Reichstag building presented the appearance of a beleaguered fortress. The Government having ordered heavy details of police and reichwehr detachments for the protection of the opening session. Gen. Ludendorff, after an early arrival, repaired to the official restaurant where some 200 of his political friends. The general, whose appearance in the Reichstag constituted the outstanding event of today's session was exhibited in an obliging manner to all who appeared to count among his future guests the leader of the Hitler party.

Grand Admiral Von Tirpitz was eagerly sought out by visitors although he was more readily detected by virtue of his hirsute adornment which is now slightly cropped.

What New Tax Bill Does For Man's 'Earned Income'

First $5000 So Designated, With a $10,000 Limit, and Is Subject to 25 Per Cent Reduction on Net.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The tax reduction bill, as overwhelmingly approved by the House yesterday and by the Senate Saturday, will, if it is signed by the President, bring a treasury refund check to all individuals who paid in full the tax on their 1923 incomes, and probably will allow those who are paying on the installment plan to forget about the last quarterly payment.

If the tax was paid in full on May 15 the Government will refund one-fourth without any application being necessary. If the tax is paid in installments, the Treasury will announce how the refund will be made—probably elimination of a quarterly payment.

In these refunds no distinction will be made between "earned" and other incomes next year persons making returns on "earned" incomes of less than $10,000 will have their taxes reduced 25 per cent.

The "earned income" provision of the tax bill just passed allows the first $5000 of income—from whatever sources derived—to be treated as "earned," but states that no more than $10,000 shall be so considered. The 25 per cent reduction for this type of income can be subtracted from the net income or after the normal tax has been computed. Secretary Mellon favored this reduction for all earned incomes and the House favored it up to $2500.

What Earned Income Is.

Earned income is defined as wages, salaries, professional fees and other amounts received as compensation for personal services actually rendered, including in the case of a taxpayer engaged in a trade or business in which other personal service and capital are material income-producing factors a reasonable allowance for personal services, not in excess of 20 per cent of the taxpayer's share of the net proceeds of the trade or business.

The tax bill schedule provides for a normal tax rate of 2 per cent on the first $4000 of net income, 4 per cent on the next $4000 and 6 per cent upon the net income in excess of $12,000. The existing law provides for a normal tax of 4 per cent upon the remainder of the net income.

Surplus Brackets.

Surplus prescribed by the bill follow bracket for bracket the Simons schedule, which begins with a surtax of 1 per cent on net incomes between $10,000 and $14,000 and runs the rate gradually to 38 per cent on incomes between $200,000 and $300,000; 39 per cent on incomes between $300,000 and $500,000, and 40 per cent on incomes above $500,000.

The present law starts surtaxes at $6000 and runs the rate to 50 per cent on incomes above $200,000. The schedule of the tax bill just passed by Congress, leaves the exemption as at present except that the exemption of $2500 is applied to all married men.

Persons having incomes under $5000 get the $2500 exemption, while those having incomes above $5000 are allowed only $2000.

concerned, but British officials who are keeping in close touch with events in Berlin held to the opinion formed some time ago that no German Government can conceivably be so stupid as to reject the experts' proposals. It is believed here that the continuity of foreign policy which the Nationalists have pledged is bound to include acceptance of the Dawes committee's recommendations.

Hart and another man were arrested at the Elms Hotel, a resort here, on the night of Oct. 19, 1932. The prisoners were escorted to the patrol wagon but Hart broke away and ran and Less pursued him. Hart turned and fired as he ran, fatally wounding the policeman. He escaped but was found three days later at a farmhouse near Elmo, Mo.

FOUR WARRANTS FOR ATTACK ON YOUNGS ISSUED

State's Attorney Gets Information From Wounded Dry Raider on Identity of Men.

TWO SHELTON BOYS NAMED IN PAPERS

Third Man Is Known as "Brown" Who Is Wounded Survivor of Revolver Fight.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 27.—Four warrants have been issued by State's Attorney Murray of Clinton County, charging assault with intent to kill, in the attack in which St. Glenn Young, Ku Klux Klan leader, and his wife were shot Friday night. The attack on the Youngs took place on the highway 300 feet north of the Kaskaskia River, which separates this county from Washington County. Okaville is a short distance beyond the river.

The warrants were issued after a representative of the State's Attorney had conferred with Young in St. Elizabeth's Hospital at Belleville and had obtained his statement as to the attack. The warrants were issued against three "Sheltons" and one "Davis," no first name given for any of them.

The State's Attorney has now learned that only two of the accused men are actually named Sheltons. They are the "two Shelton boys," Earl and Earl Skelcher, who were under indictment for murder in the killing of Constable Caesar Cagle last February.

The third man who was named "Brown" in the warrants is now known as "Brown" and the wounded survivor of the revolver fight at the limits of Herrin Saturday afternoon, in which Jack Skelcher was killed by Ku Klux Klan guards, deputized as police, who were awaiting the return of Young's assassins.

Who "Davis" is has not appeared, but it is believed he drove an automobile in which the Sheltons had been shooting at Young and his wife. Although at least four men took part in the attack on the Youngs, only Skelcher and "Brown" were in the car believed to have been used by the assassins when they reached Herrin.

"Brown" Being Held.

State's Attorney Murray said he would issue new warrants as soon as the names of the men have been certified to him by the Williamson County authorities. "Brown," now in jail at Marion, has given no name but that, and as he is not known there, it has been conjectured that he is a Louis gangster character. "Brown" will be brought here for arraignment as soon as possible, and the Sheltons whenever they are apprehended.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HERRIN, Ill., May 27.—Delay is expected to occur in serving warrants growing out of the shootings of the last few days, because of intense Klan and anti-Klan feeling. This feeling has led to a general carrying of revolvers on the streets of Herrin.

As a counter to the warrants obtained against Young's alleged assassins in Clinton County, it was reported today that enemies of the Klan have obtained a warrant in this (Williamson) county, charging a Herrin Klansman with murder, in the shooting of Skelcher.

As has been told, it is understood that Young telephoned henchmen here, after the attack, which he and his wife were shot at, and drove along a State highway, and named four men as his assassins.

The funeral of Skelcher was held yesterday afternoon at the home of his father, Alfred Skelcher, near Cambria, a small town in this county. About 200 automobiles were used by persons in attendance, and it was remarked that this demonstration was as large as the one Klansmen had made for Constable Cagle's funeral. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. M. Rogers of the Cambria Methodist Episcopal Church. The funeral party drove about 12 miles to Carbondale, where Skelcher was buried.

Committee of Senate Rejects Bid of Ford

The committee voted down a motion by Senator Harrison to report the Ford bid favorably. Then Senator Heflin moved to report the Ford bid without recommendation, but before a vote was taken Senator McNary (Rep.), Oregon, presented the Norris bill as a substitute and this was voted on first and carried. The Ford offer then was dropped.

Supporters of Ford's bid then began plans to attempt to force a vote in the Senate this week. Senator Heflin announced that Ford advocates would submit a minority report which would be voted on first in the Senate and this would serve to bring out a clear-cut vote in the Senate on the Ford bid, already approved by the House, was practically assured regardless of the committee's action, when it was made clear yesterday that Southern Senators would support the Ford bid would be supported by Western Senators in bringing about a showdown.

Senator Underwood appealed to the Senate to permit action on Ford's bid, declaring that Ford was entitled to an acceptance or a rejection. Declaring that Ford's offer was tied up in the committee and the opportunity was not given the Senate to pass on it, he said, the committee was nominated by Western Senators who were seeking passage of a reclamation relief measure.

"The gentlemen of the West ask me to declare that the shooting of the Western Senators take on the Muscle Shoals vote I will seek by my vote to do justice to the people of the West with respect to reclamation relief," he said.

After his speech, Senator Warren (Rep.) of Wyoming, and Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho assured Underwood that Western Senators would co-operate to bring the Muscle Shoals issue to a vote. Chairman Norris of the Senate Agriculture Committee also favors action at this session of Congress.

Representative Longworth expressed the hope, however, that during the next 10 days there could be action on most of the important legislation remaining undisposed of, and that the opposition to adjournment would thus be dissipated. Senator Curtis of Kansas, the assistant Republican leader, declared the Senate could dispose of legislation now demanded if committees would report the bills promptly.

GAS MONOPOLY CASE WAS "SIDETRACKED"

Witness Tells Senators of Daugherty's Procedure in New York Prosecution.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Ragland Moman of New York today renewed before the Senate Daugherty Committee his charges that former Attorney-General Daugherty failed to push an anti-trust prosecution against the United Gas Improvement Co., though the corporation had built up a 100 per cent monopoly of street lighting.

Paul Howland, attorney for Daugherty, got the witness to agree that he had been fighting the company for many years and had complained to President Wilson against the discrimination of Attorney-General Gregory and Palmer to prosecute.

Moman also said he was the author of a letter to Daugherty, suggesting that a pending indictment against the company and its officials be dismissed. As a legal proposition, he said, he had regarded the indictment as faulty.

Former Prosecutor Testifies.

Colton Lewis, formerly in charge of the prosecution against the United Gas Improvement Co., described for the committee the several years of investigation which preceded action.

"When we got the evidence before the grand jury," he said, "the foreman told me they were unanimous in desiring an indictment against the corporation and I came to Washington for a conference with Mr. Daugherty and Guy D. Goff, his assistant. Mr. Daugherty suggested that only the minor officials of the corporation should be named in the indictment, but I said we could not proceed unless we named the president of the company. They finally agreed and it was decided to name all the officials who were in charge of operations."

As soon as the civil and criminal charges against the gas company were filed, Lewis went on, he was instructed to "hold the matter up." A new attorney, Harry P. West of Columbus, O., was appointed by Daugherty, he added, "to investigate the whole matter over again."

"Got Tired and Quit."

"West talked to me about it," Lewis said. "He asked me to put myself in the shoes of the defendants. These men indicted were Mr. Daugherty's own friends, who had contributed money to him for campaign purposes. He mentioned particularly President Bode of the gas company." Lewis said he "got tired" and resigned. He said he was unable to "get to Mr. Daugherty to find out what his reasons were for sidetracking the case."

"Mr. West was in constant communication with the defendants," Lewis said.

On cross-examination by Howland, Lewis said he had never drawn an anti-trust indictment, though for 10 years as a special agent and attorney for the Department of Justice he had worked in trust cases. "The witness mentioned he had been 'employed by the committee' to go over certain files in the gas company case and had been unable to find data sought."

"Are you employed by any investigating agency now?" asked Senator Moman (Rep.) of New Hampshire. "Not unless you call work for Mr. Vanderbilt employment by an investigating agency," Lewis replied. "He hasn't paid me anything, but he asked me to help out the committee."

CANADA HOLDS UP TREATY IT DID NOT HELP TO MAKE

Premier Declines to Recommend Approval of Pact With Turkey Signed at Lausanne.

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, May 27.—Premier W. L. Mackenzie King has declined to recommend to the House of Commons for approval the peace treaty with Turkey and the accompanying conventions drawn up at the Lausanne conference.

A telegram, sent to the British Government by Governor-General Byng, March 24, and made public today, disclosed that the Premier's action was due to the fact that Canada was not invited to participate in the Lausanne conference and was not a signatory to the treaty.

The telegram was the last of a series in negotiations between the British and Canadian governments, beginning Oct. 27, 1922, during the position of the Ministers in the King Government, the Governor-General said in "almost prayerful" language.

"Without the approval of Parliament they feel unwarranted in signifying concurrence in the ratification of the treaty and the conventions. They will not, however, take exception to any course as His Majesty's Government may deem advisable to recommend."

Vote on Child Labor Monday.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—By unanimous consent the Senate today agreed to vote on the child labor amendment resolution at 5 p. m. next Monday.

Lewis said, "He showed me the correspondence and told me what they had told him."

Francis R. Hutchins, one of the gas company attorneys, wrote to West, thinking him "almost prayerful," the witness said, "for holding up the case as long as he had and suggesting that Daugherty issue a public statement on the delay."

The next day a statement was given out for publication by the Attorney-General following the general line suggested, said Lewis.

Senator Wheeler (Dem.) of Montana identified Hutchins as a member of the law firm of Baldwin, Hutchins & Todd of New York, at which Hiram C. Todd, Special Assistant Attorney-General in charge of the prosecution of Gaston B. Means, also is a member.

"The witness mentioned he had been 'employed by the committee' to go over certain files in the gas company case and had been unable to find data sought."

"Are you employed by any investigating agency now?" asked Senator Moman (Rep.) of New Hampshire. "Not unless you call work for Mr. Vanderbilt employment by an investigating agency," Lewis replied. "He hasn't paid me anything, but he asked me to help out the committee."

On cross-examination by Howland, Lewis said he had never drawn an anti-trust indictment, though for 10 years as a special agent and attorney for the Department of Justice he had worked in trust cases. ## ALLEGED LEADER OF GANG OF AUTO THIEVES ON TRIAL

OTTAWA, May 27.—Premier W. Mackenzie King has declined to recommend to the House of Commons for approval the peace treaty with Turkey and the accompanying conventions drawn up at the Lausanne conference.

A telegram, sent to the British government by Governor-General McCreery on March 24, and made public today, disclosed that the Premier's decision was due to the fact that Mackenzie King was not invited to participate in the Lausanne conference and was not a signatory to the treaty.

The telegram was the last of a series in negotiations between the British and Canadian governments, beginning Oct. 27, 1922. It was the position of the British government that the King of the Netherlands should be the signatory to the treaty. "Without the approval of Parliament they feel unwarranted in making concessions in the ratification of the treaty and the conventions. They will not, however, take exception to such course as His Majesty's Government may deem advisable to recommend."

Vote on Child Labor Monday, the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—By unanimous consent the Senate today agreed to vote on the child labor amendment resolution at 5 p. m. next Monday.

Francis R. Hutchins, one of the company attorneys, wrote to the witness, said, "for holding up the case as long as he had been told to do."

The next day a statement was given out for publication by the Attorney-General following the general line suggested, said Lewis.

Senator Wheeler (Dem.) of Montana identified Hutchins as a member of the law firm of Baldwin, Hutchins & Todd of New York, of which Hiram C. Todd, Special Assistant Attorney-General in charge of the prosecution of Gaston B. Means, also is a member.

"Are you employed by any investigating agency now?" asked Senator Means (Rep.) of New Hampshire. "Not unless you call work for Mr. Vandenberg employment by an investigating agency," Lewis replied, but he asked me to help out the committee."

ALLEGED LEADER OF GANG OF AUTO THIEVES ON TRIAL

Thomas Kehoe Faces Mandatory Penalty of 25 Years in Prison if Found Guilty by Jury.

WITNESS TELLS OF PARTNERSHIP

Defense Indicates It Will Seek to Prove Defendant Was Merely an Employee of Mandell.

Thomas Kehoe, ex-convict and alleged leader of a gang of automobile thieves who stole 100 Ford cars in St. Louis which were recovered in the vicinity of Booneville and other Missouri towns last year, is on trial in Circuit Judge Hamilton's court. Charged with larceny of a motor vehicle, and with being an habitual criminal, it will be mandatory for the judge to instruct the jury, should they find him guilty, to assess the maximum penalty, 25 years in the penitentiary.

Tells of Partnership.

The trial opened yesterday and the State's main witness was Sam Mandell, jointly indicted with Kehoe, who told of his partnership with Kehoe in the use of a Ford car, 1923 North Grand boulevard, which it is said was the clearing house for stolen cars. The defense sought to prove that Kehoe was merely an employee of Mandell and the leader of the gang as the prosecution contended. Kehoe is the first of several men to be tried as members of the gang.

Kehoe, who is 24 years old, is charged specifically with the theft of the automobile of Dr. James M. Smith, 2161 Thurman avenue, stolen May 15, 1923, at Elks club, and sold through George Routzong, a Tipson, Mo., dealer. Dr. Smith testified that he had been unable to find data sought.

"Are you employed by any investigating agency now?" asked Senator Means (Rep.) of New Hampshire. "Not unless you call work for Mr. Vandenberg employment by an investigating agency," Lewis replied, but he asked me to help out the committee."

Censor of Youth's Conduct In Theater Seriously Hurt

Fight Follows When Movie Fan Objects to Arm of Another Around Back of Girl's Chair.

An argument that developed last night at the Missouri Theater, when Alex Ardavny put his arm around his fiancée's shoulder and Alex Rubenstein voiced disapproval, resulted in serious injury to Rubenstein and the arrest of Ardavny.

Rubenstein, who is 32 years old and a druggist, residing at 1107 North Grand boulevard, is in city hospital with skull fracture and other injuries suffered when Ardavny struck him on the jaw and knocked him to the sidewalk at the northeast corner of Grand and Washington boulevards. His wife, who accompanied him to the motion picture show, and witnessed the one-sided fight, is in a hysterical condition at their home.

Girl Taken to Station.

After striking Rubenstein, Ardavny ran away, expecting his fiancée, Miss Flora Gregg, 17, of 3615 Cook avenue, would follow. Instead, she was detained by police and taken to the station.

Hot words followed and a house detective intervened. The latter and the two disputants went out into the alley and patched up their affair. The performance ended about 9:30. The four walked out at the same time. At the corner, according to Ardavny, Rubenstein revived the quarrel with a sneer and Ardavny struck him.

Miss Gregg was released from custody when Ardavny arrived at the station. Ardavny is held pending the outcome of Rubenstein's injuries. He says he is sorry he struck so hard.

GIRL'S COURT FIGHT FOR BABY RESUMED

Woman, in Deposition, Tells of Neighbor's Inquiries About Death of Infant.

Fannie Lockwood's fight to obtain from the Board of Children's Guardians a baby she claims as her own was resumed in Judge Oving's Court of Domestic Relations today.

The deposition of Mrs. Stacia Ambs, 55 years old, an invalid at Bethesda Home, 3649 Vista avenue, was taken yesterday by counsel for the respondent, Miss Lockwood, who is a nursing mother, to the Board of Children's Guardians, with counsel for the petitioner present. It was read in court today.

Asked About Baby's Death.

Mrs. Ambs is acquainted with Mrs. Eleanor Meiners of 1444 Delmar boulevard, a next-door neighbor of the Lockwood family, residing at No. 4246. Mrs. Ambs was asked, in the deposition, if Mrs. Meiners telephoned her early this month, when the investigation to find the baby of 18-year-old Fannie Lockwood, which was born Dec. 19, was taken up.

The witness said Mrs. Meiners called her May 6 or 7, and asked whether a baby had died at Bethesda Home a day or two previously. Mrs. Ambs inquired, but learned of no such case. The next day Mrs. Meiners called again and told of certain marks on the baby she had in mind. Then Mrs. Meiners added, said Mrs. Ambs, that the baby was Fannie Lockwood's and had been born in January, and later was taken to St. Ann's "Foundling Asylum to Bethesda Home."

Last Saturday Mrs. Meiners telephoned Mrs. Ambs again, the latter said, and accused her of favoring the Board of Children's Guardians, a conclusion apparently reached by Mrs. Meiners because of the trend of evidence in the case. Mrs. Meiners had appeared as a character witness for the Lockwood family.

This disposition was read into the record today.

Miss Lockwood's Claim.

The petitioner claims that her baby was born at Bethesda Home to her father, Thomas J. Poepping of 315 West Iron street, a former Municipal Opera chorus man. She also claims that a certain infant that was abandoned at St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum, Decatur, Ga., and was subsequently taken to St. Ann's Foundling Asylum and city hospital, where it was turned over to the Board of Children's Guardians, Jan. 4, is the same child, her own.

Evidence has shown that the child being claimed is the foundling left at St. Joseph's and effort has been made to prove that the foundling was the same child, her own.

By interesting the patients in their personal appearance, and in doing something other than sitting all day staring at a wall," Fulkerson said, "a long step forward is taken in reviving the mental processes and effecting a cure."

Recently the Eleemosynary Board purchased 100 singing canaries and a bird has been placed in each ward for women in the State hospital.

Barber shops have been established in all three hospitals. Fulkerson said, eliminating the former plan of having the attendant in charge of a ward shave all patients in that ward. Barber shops also have been installed for cleaning and pressing clothing.

$125,000 FIRE IN THEATER

Municipal Playhouse at Santiago, Chile, Badly Damaged.

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 27.—The Municipal Theater here, one of the best in Latin America, was badly damaged by fire today, the loss being estimated at more than 1,000,000 pesos ($100,000). After a hard fight, the firemen saved the auditorium proper, but the decorations and upholstery were ruined. A Spanish theatrical company, which was playing in the theater, lost property valued at more than 250,000 pesos ($25,000). The cause of the fire is unknown.

Paderewski Guests of King.

BRUSSELS, May 27.—Unusual honors were accorded to Ignace Paderewski, piano virtuoso, and Madame Paderewski on their arrival here last evening. Prince Leopold was at the station to meet them, and the King and Queen gave a state dinner in their honor.

40 POLICEMEN RAID WEINBRENNER'S PLACE

Palatial Gambling Emporium of Former St. Louisan Closed Near Detroit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Mich., May 27.—George Weinbrenner, better known as "St. Louis Dutch," and son of a former St. Louis Sheriff, faces preliminary examination Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Duse, in Mt. Clemens, on a charge of operating a gambling establishment known as the New Chesterfield Inn, reputed to be America's fourth largest gambling emporium, which was raided by 40 Michigan State policemen under command of Chief Inspector Marmon last Friday night.

Weinbrenner and his two aids, Edward Brook and Edward Dunford, who were arrested in the raid on the Detroit revenue establishment, were arraigned before Justice Duse Saturday and released on $500 bail.

Furnishings Demolished.

Four State policemen, "planted" in the Chesterfield Inn before the raid, testified later that all gambling apparatus had been removed 20 minutes before the raiders arrived. The raiders demolished the tables and furnishings in the establishment with axes and confiscated two safes which were opened later and found to contain $2300 in cash, two rifles, a pistol, ammunition, poker chips and gambling paraphernalia.

When the raiders arrived they found 200 men and several women in the hall, either sitting quietly or innocently playing billiards. A gallery, not perceptible to the average person, was found to be fenced with paper composition boarding walls and covered with a carpet which commanded the entire floor. A revolver holster and empty shells, found behind this barricade, was taken as evidence by the police that the gallery was a protection against hi-jackers.

The Chesterfield Inn is in a new structure resembling a garage. On the ground floor there is ample parking space for automobiles of patrons, whereas a rear staircase leads to the nine-ring gambling circus above. A number of small rooms off the main gambling room, which was 120 feet long and 60 feet wide, are believed to have been used by Weinbrenner as offices.

Two Safes Opened.

One of the two safes, seized in the raid, was opened with an acetylene torch. The other, a massive strong box, was believed to contain the fund used to pay the losses, or the "bank."

A youth appeared at the Mount Clemens jail Sunday afternoon, where the safe was held, and offered to open it. He represented himself as being a clerk for Weinbrenner. His offer was accepted and after opening the safe, which gave up only $1500, the young man walked off before anybody thought to ask him his name.

Man and Woman Shot to Death.

MEMPHIS, Mo., May 27.—The bodies of Pete Sline, 35 years old and Miss Retta Law, 32, each with a bullet wound in the breast, were found on the edge of Memphis this morning. From the position of the bodies the authorities believe that Sline shot Miss Law and then ended his own life. Both were employed at the Driscoll Restaurant in Memphis.

The copies kept in State and city offices was pointed out. Then he was asked if he had not told detectives he had refused to perform an operation on Miss Lockwood, requested by Poepping. He denied the statement. Detective Nicholas J. Kube, testifying from his report, said that Dr. Peart had made such a statement.

A telephone company clerk, testifying from records of Miss Lockwood's employment as a telephone operator, verified the petitioner's testimony as to dates of her employment. She stopped working Nov. 24 and returned Dec. 31.

Many letters have been received by Miss Lockwood. It was learned today, purporting to give clues as to the whereabouts of her baby. These letters disregard her claim that the foundling whose whereabouts is known is hers.

BISHOP BROWN'S TRIAL FOR HERESY OPENS

Retired Episcopal Prelate of Arkansas Accused of Erroneous Teachings.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, May 27.—Illness of the Rt. Rev. Edwin S. Lines, New Jersey, reduced the membership of the trial court of the Protestant Episcopal Church to eight bishops when the case of William Montgomery Brown, former bishop of Arkansas, got under way today.

The members of the court attended a special communion service early today and then went into an executive conference until just before 2 p. m., the hour set for the opening of the trial. Bishop Brown, who is 62, spent the hours before the opening of the proceedings in virtual seclusion, resting in anticipation of the strain of the trial.

Bishop Brown is charged with teaching doctrines that are not held by the church. He is the first Bishop of the American Church to be presented on such charges and will be brought to trial in the hall of Trinity Cathedral, the church in which he was baptized, confirmed, married, installed as archdeacon and consecrated a Bishop.

Attorneys for the accused Bishop have filed three motions around the first of which chief canonical controversy will revolve. This motion asks dismissal of the case. It claims that the court is irregular in that three of its members—Bishops Bratton of Mississippi, Brewster of Maine and Faber of Montana—were elected to it outside of the regular time for making such choices. The motion also disputes the court's jurisdiction over Bishop Brown and over the subject matter of the proceedings.

Charles L. Dibble of Kalamazoo, Mich., who is "church advocate" will present the case against the Bishop, announced that he was ready to combat this motion, maintaining not only the regularity of the particular court, but also its right to decide the guilt or innocence of Bishop Brown.

The Bishop asks dismissal of the case on the ground that the accusation is not specific enough. If this is denied, the third motion will be taken up. This asks that the accusers furnish a bill of particulars showing the points of church doctrine which they believe Bishop Brown has controverted, the parts of the Book of Common Prayer which they claim he has violated, and the portions of the Apostles' and Nicene creeds which are at variance with his teachings.

TESTIMONY HEARD ON SHOE COMPANY DEAL

Clayton Act Violation Charged in Connection With International-McElwain Case.

Charges that the International Shoe Co. violated the Clayton act, prohibiting restraint of trade, in the purchase of the capital stock of the W. H. McElwain Co. of Boston,
May 11, 1921, are being heard here today before Examiner Bennett of the Federal Trade Commission, which filed the complaint.

The complaint avers the purchase was in violation of Section 7 of the Clayton act, which forbids one corporation to acquire the capital stock of another when the effect of it may be substantially to lessen competition between the two corporations, restrain trade generally or tend to create a monopoly.

Shoe Company's Answer.

The International Shoe Co. in formal answer to the complaint, admitted purchase of a substantial amount of the capital stock of the McElwain company, admitted this was a technical breach of the Clayton act and added that upon learning of this violation the International divested itself of the stock.
Subsequently, the Government will contend, it purchased all factories and equipment of the McElwain company, which it still holds.

The Government will contend that retention of the factories and equipment of the McElwain company, although divested of the capital stock, is violation of the spirit of the Clayton act. Under ordinary proceedings of this nature the commission, upon finding a company guilty, would order it to divest itself of the stock. The commission has not been called upon to consider a case similar to this, where the stock has been disposed of but factories and equipment retained.

Advertisements published jointly by the International and McElwain companies, immediately after the purchase, declared the acquisition made the International company the largest shoe house "in the United States or abroad."

Volume of Business.

It was stated in the advertisements that the combined volume of business of the two companies in 1920 was $128,000,000. The International made more pairs of men's, women's and children's shoes than any other concern in 1920. It was stated, and the McElwain company during the same year exceeded all other firms in manufacture of men's and boys' street and dress shoes.

At the time of the acquisition the International operated 32 shoe factories in Illinois, Missouri and Kentucky. The McElwain company had 19 shoe factories, two tanneries and four material factories, all in New Hampshire.

When the Federal Trade Commission led its complaint, May 25, 1923, Jackson Johnson, chairman of the board of directors of the International, said the McElwain company was not a strong competitor of the International and dealt in a different line of products.

Testimony is being heard in the board room of John Roberts, Johnson & Rand branch of the International, 1501 Washington avenue.
After hearing witnesses here, the examiner and A. R. Brindley, attorney for the commission, will go to Boston to examine other witnesses.

MAYO FORESEES CANCER CURE

Asserts American Doctors Are Going to Conquer Disease.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 27.—American doctors will find a cure for cancer within a few years, Dr.
Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., predicted yesterday in an address at the opening of the New York City Cancer Institute.

"We're going to conquer cancer —that terrible disease—and rid the world of it, regardless of cost," he said. He added it was not certain whether x-rays, radium or X-ray would be found to be the cure.

Overeating, he said, was one of the principal causes of the disease.

Sues Wife Because of Ridicule.

Charles G. Lovickamp, 60 years, old, 1221 Sidney street, yesterday filed suit to divorce Sophia Lovekamp, alleging that after he lost his money in business deals she ridiculed him to his friends. He also states that she became incensed when he ejected some of her relatives, who, he says, were living at his home. They were married May 25, 1921, and separated a week ago.

BRITON MAY ABANDON ROUND-WORLD RACE

His Plane Is a Wreck, and Monsoon May Start Before New One Arrives.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 27.—Stuart MacLaren and his companions may be compelled to abandon their round-the-world flight in consequence of the accident to their seaplane at Akah, notwithstanding the presence of a spare machine at Tokio and the American offer of assistance.

It is believed here that the British flyers, despite their best efforts, would be unable to start again before 12 days or a fortnight, by which time the monsoon would probably make further flight impossible for several weeks. It is further pointed out that each day's delay adds to the peril of crossing the Northern Pacific, owing to the likelihood of fog.

AKAH, May 27.—The hydro-airplane in which Maj. MacLaren, the British aviator, was attempting a round-the-world flight, was completely wrecked when it crashed in the harbor here last week.

Thirteen Destroyers Along Line of China Sea Flight.

TOKIO, May 27.—The American destroyer, John Paul Jones, left Yokohama this morning for Hakodate to pick up a reserve plane belonging to A. Stuart MacLaren, British aviator, on his way around the world, and take it on to Hong Kong, whence it will be taken on by another destroyer to Calcutta. The plane will replace that which crashed with MacLaren near Akah, Burma, in an accident which it has been feared might terminate MacLaren's effort.

Today's action followed approval by Admiral Thomas Washington, commanding the United States Asiatic fleet, of plans for helping the British flight.

The remainder of the forty-third destroyer division of the American fleet will leave Yokohama tomorrow to take up stations along the route to be followed by the American army's round-world fliers on their way from Kagoshima to Shanghai.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 27.—The Air Service has received a dispatch dated today from Shanghai, China, to Capt. Georges Pelletier D'Orléans declaring that he had decided to change the motor of his new airplane and that he would not take off for Tokyo via Peking and Korea until Wednesday, when he will attempt to complete his Paris-Tokyo flight in a machine lent him by Gen. Ho Fen-Ling, Military Governor of Shanghai. His original machine had been wrecked in landing here.

Benjamin Short Becomes Sailor to Return to St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 27.—Benjamin Short, sailor of the steamship American Legion, smiled joyfully as he helped to lower the gang-plank yesterday to permit his wife, Mrs. Alice K. Short, and other passengers to disembark.

Short—he tips the scales at 220 pounds—is an employee of the Buenos Aires office of the Standard Oil Co. and returned there only a few months ago after a visit to his parents in St. Louis.

Recently he was notified that they had died, and to collect an inheritance he would have to return to St. Louis. Being without the necessary funds, he obtained a job as a deckhand. "I wasn't afraid of hard work, so I came up as one of the crew and Mrs. Short ate her way up," said Short on arriving.

Cycling Club Places Marker.

A red granite marker, 4 feet high by 2 feet wide, was placed on the south side of Manchester road at Fond, Mo., Sunday, by the St. Louis Cycling Club in honor of the late William M. Butler, former club member and principal of Yeatman High School. The inscription on the stone states it was erected to preserve upon the highway the memory of an ardent cyclist, William M. Butler. The Butler stone is the fifth erected by the Cycling Club in the vicinity of St. Louis since 1919, each representing an event in the traditions of the club.

MODERNISTS LOSE IN A TEST V

Presbyterian Assembly holds Right to Debat Views of Professors.

By the Associated Press.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Presbyterian modernists sought to check the fundamentalists, who, guided by Dr. C. E. Macartney, moderator, and Ham Jennings Bryan, vice moderator, have dominated the general assembly of the church new since here.

Both sides held meetings last night, marshaling their forces for the decisive fight on the fundamentalist control.

The fundamentalist control has been complete. On a vote between the opposing factions yesterday, the Macartney faction won with a margin of 184. The division followed a bitter battle on alleged heretical advances by professors in Presbyterian theological seminaries, and terminated by a motion that deferred the question back to a later session.

The modernists, however, stated today that their full strength would be made known in the final session.

MODERNISTS LOSE IN A TEST VOTE

Presbyterian Assembly Upholds Right to Debate Views of Professors.

By the Associated Press.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 27.—Presbyterian modernists today sought to check the fundamentalists, who, guided by Dr. Clarence Macartney, moderator, and William Jennings Bryan, vice moderator, have dominated the general assembly of the church now in session here.

Both sides held meetings last night, marshaling their forces for the decisive fight on the Foedick case.

The fundamentalist control thus far has been complete. On a division between the opposing factions yesterday, the Macartney forces won with a margin of 184 votes. The division followed a bitter debate on alleged heretical utterances by professors in Presbyterian theological seminaries, and was terminated by a motion that referred the question back to a committee.

The modernists, however, indicated today that their full strength would be thrown into the fight on the big issue of the session—the right of the New York Presbyterian to excommunicate Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, accused of uttering heresies from the pulpit of the First Church, New York.

Debate on Heresy.
The debate yesterday came on a motion by Dr. Walter F. McMillin of Philadelphia to impose on teachers in theological seminaries the "solemn obligation" to see that their teaching is in conformity with the confession of faith.

Dr. McMillin's attempt to quote from a published statement by one of these teachers—Prof. Alice Maccey Dalles of Auburn Theological Seminary, Auburn, N. Y.—which he said denied one of the tenets of the church, brought a reply from Dr. Malcolm McPhail of Auburn. The Auburn Seminary, he said, is not in the jurisdiction of the assembly, being under the authority of the New York synod.

During the debate, Dr. Percy Y. Schell of Philadelphia, criticized a recent volume by Dr. J. H. Snowden, Pittsburg, editor of the Presbyterian Magazine, and quoted a statement which he said was contrary to the tenets of the church.

Dr. Arthur Shooner, Malvern, Pa., an Auburn graduate, came to the defense of his alma mater, but Dr. W. L. Latham, Chester, Pa., renewed the controversy by attempting to read alleged heretical statements from published remarks of a Prof. Baile of Auburn.

It was at this point that members of the New York Presbyterian said that rules of the assembly prescribe attacks from the floor on an individual member. The moderator ruled against this point of order and on an appeal against his decision he was upheld by a majority of 104. The vote was 445 to 241.

Further debate was choked off by adoption of a resolution sending the theological seminary report back to committee.

The assembly adopted a resolution objecting to the caricaturing of clergymen in moving pictures.

with the provision that the resolution be called to the attention of Will H. Hays, an elder of the Presbyterian church and president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

The assembly also accepted the report of the Committee on Education in which the assembly went on record as "renewing" its approval of the eighteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution and reiterated its stand for "constructive control of the moving picture industry."

35 REPORTED DEAD IN SOUTHERN STORM

Injured in Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana Said to Total 70.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 27.—A series of tornadoes, sweeping through Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana, last night and early today, took a known toll of 35 lives and injured upwards of 70 persons, according to advices reaching here today. Property damage was heavy.

In Mississippi the known dead totalled 17, with 50 persons injured. At Collins, two girls are believed to have lost their lives and 12 were injured, when most of the business district was wiped out. The storm also struck Johnson station, Vicksburg, Greenville and Bay Springs.

Other communities reporting deaths included Swain plantation, near Greenville, where three negroes were killed and a dozen others injured, and Waynesboro, where several negroes were killed.

In Alabama 19 persons were reported dead and 15 injured at the Owens Mining community, near Empire City. Three families were reported annihilated in the Little mining community. Reports from Athens place the number of dead at seven in the Ellamont neighborhood.

In Louisiana one man struck by lightning is thought to be fatally injured.

By the Associated Press.
MERIDIAN, Miss., May 27.—Seven members of the John Broadway family were killed in a storm that struck Brewer, a few miles from here, early today. The dead were Mr. and Mrs. Broadway, a married son, his wife and child, an unmarried son and a boy. Nellie Anderson was killed at Devos.

POLAND AND RUSSIA PASS SERIES OF SNARLING NOTES

"Tend to Your Own Business" Is Essence of Final Communication.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, May 27.—Poland has sent a strongly worded reply to the note from Foreign Minister Tchicherin of Soviet Russia, complaining of alleged violation by Poland of Article VII of the treaty of Riga, providing for settlement of the question of minorities. The Soviet note demanded better treatment of the Ukrainians and the White Russians in Polish territory.

The Polish reply says this Government considers the Russian note as unwarranted interference in Poland's internal affairs, adding that the matter complained of has nothing to do with Article VII of the treaty.

It expresses surprise that Russia should accuse Poland of denying religious rights to minorities, while Russia itself withholds such religious and general freedom to the various nationalities. It considers it a breach of international custom for Russia to express the expressions of state officials such as the speech of the Polish President regarding the relations between the two countries.

M. Tchicherin in his rejoinder to Poland affirms that the minorities in Russia enjoy fullest freedom and that there is no religious persecution. He considers Poland's reply as further proof of her unwillingness to fulfill the Riga treaty, as the Russian note, he contends, is correctly based on violation of Article VII.

LEFT ESTATE OF $21,463.981

Woolworth Widow's Holdings Announced by Trustees.

By the Associated Press.
XANTER, France, May 27.—The estate of Mrs. Jennie Woolworth, who died a few days ago, widow of the late Frank W. Woolworth, was valued at $21,463.981 Dec. 31, 1923, according to an accounting of the three trustees filed today with the State Supreme Court.

Bridge Collapse Isolates Town.

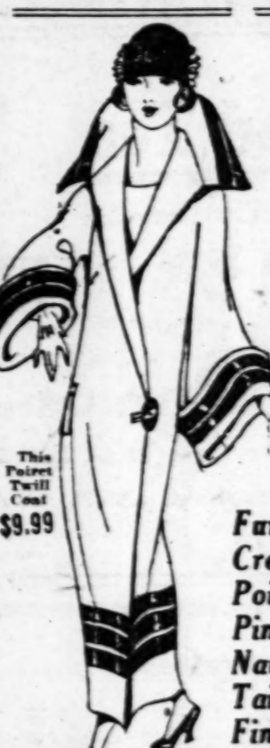

XANTER, France, May 27.—The two central arches of the bridge across the Pirmil, a branch of the Loire River, collapsed yesterday without warning, and, in consequence, a whole quarter of the city is without water, gas or electricity. Communication between the north and south of the department is interrupted, the nearest bridge being at Thouars, eight miles upstream. No one was on the bridge at the time of the accident.

By the Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 27.—Four men held up Herbert Hume, a messenger for the Guaranty Trust Co. of this city today and robbed him of $10,000.

A Thought for the Bride and a Hint for Her Friends

In the bride's new home, and in every home, there should be at least one pair of sharp, long-lasting Wiss Scissors.

They cut easily and evenly, along the whole length of the blades, without spreading or allowing the cloth to slip between the blades—and they are so well made that they outlast several pairs of the ordinary kind.

Some thoughtful relative or friend should see that every bride is provided with at least one pair of these remarkable scissors.

Dollar Cleaning Now a Fact!

When the Dollar Cleaning Company was opened several months ago, it was, frankly, an experiment. It remained to be seen if our plan to clean ladies' plain wool garments for a dollar would prove practical, for only a large volume of business would permit us to operate at this price. But the women of St. Louis, by their support, have demonstrated their approval of our plan, and now "Dollar Cleaning" is no longer an experiment, but a fact, and the Dollar Cleaning Company an institution that is here to stay.

To those women who have not yet tried Dollar Cleaning, we extend an invitation to allow us to prove that this low price does not in the least affect the high quality of our work.

BUSHMAN USED OUIJA BOARD, SISTER SAYS

Mrs. Estelle Barlow Testifies Mother Was Not Influenced in Will Contest.

Mrs. Estelle Bushman Barlow, who is accused by her brother, Christian Peper Bushman, of having influenced her mother, Mrs. Caroline Peper Bushman, against him, is telling her side today in the will contest suit being tried before Circuit Judge Grimm.

She testified that Bushman was always asking her mother for money and that he twice moved into her home with his family because he could not earn enough to pay rent. Mrs. Bushman, who preferred to be known as Mrs. Peper after her divorce in 1901, died in 1920, leaving one-third of her $500,000 estate outright to Mrs. Barlow. The remainder, equally divided, was placed in trust with Mrs. Barlow, the income from one share to go to Bushman and the other to go to a grandson of Mrs. Peper.

Tries to Show Undue Influence.
Bushman's evidence in the suit to break his mother's will has been designed to show undue influence and also by presentation of her alleged eccentricities to show that she was not of sound mind. One of his contentions has been that Mrs. Peper was very superstitious. "It was my brother who was superstitious," Mrs. Barlow testified. "At one time he brought a ouija board to the house. He persuaded me to sit down with him and place my hands on the board. It wrote out this message: 'Tell Estelle to give Peper money to take care of property.' I saw his hands moving the board. I accused him of writing the message. He wanted me to believe that the spirits were urging the gift of money, but I didn't."

Says Mother Had Strong Will.
The witness testified her mother had a strong will and ruled her own affairs until her death. "I always gave in to her and respected her wishes," Mrs. Barlow said. "My brother did not. He was always begging money and there was trouble between her wife and daughter and my mother."

When Christian Bushman and his family went to live at the Peper home, 4448 Washington boulevard, there was an agreement that they should have rent free if they would supply meals to Mrs. Peper and Mrs. Barlow, who was then Miss Estelle Bushman.

"Sometimes my brother's wife would send us good meals," said Mrs. Barlow. "But more often they would not be plentiful enough. Once a bowl of bean soup was all we had."

DEAN SCARLETT PLEADS FOR WORLD PEACE IN ADDRESS

Pastor of Christ Church Cathedral Urges Co-operation Among Nations to Solve War Issues.

The Rev. William H. Scarlett, dean of Christ Church Cathedral, delivered a plea for world co-operation, arbitration and understanding, rather than resort to arms, in solving the common problems of humanity, in an address yesterday noon at the twelfth annual meeting of the Community Council of St. Louis at the City Club.

How the 10 departments of the Community Council and its three bureaus have worked out community welfare problems and have helped member organizations to reach a better understanding of their work was described in detail by Elwood Street, the director, who used lantern slides to illustrate his theme.

He pointed out, among the outstanding achievements of the council, the surveys on maternal care and the city's hospital facilities, in both of which shortages were discovered; the study of the probation-parole systems which has led to the formation of a committee which will attempt to carry out the recommendations of Charles L. (Chute), the organization of a Race Relations Department under the chairmanship of Edgar Romberger, and the study of the city jail made jointly by the Missouri Welfare League and the Community Council.

Thomas C. Hennings, president of the council, said the council hopes to establish a training school for nursemaids and nursing attendants; and a school for training social workers, and obtain legislation having to do with social work in city institutions and probation and parole systems.

Hennings was re-elected president, as were Charles H. Stix, treasurer and Scott DeKins, secretary. Other officers chosen were Raymond McNally and William C. Tompkins, vice-presidents; and the Rev. John J. Butler, Nelson Cunningham, Lansing V. Smith, Rabbi Samuel Thurman and Mrs. W. W. Boyd Jr., members of the executive board. The Board of Religious Organizations was voted the most popular member of the Community Council and was awarded the silver trophy, which last year was won by the Missouri School of Social Economy.

FRENCH FOREIGN POLICY TO STAND SAYS POINCARÉ

Premier's Swan Song
Sounds Again the Note
That Ruhr Occupation
Key to Situation.FAIR PLAY FOR THE NEW GOVERNMENTBut a Close Watch Will Kept on Incoming Administration—Fall to Voting System.By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 27.—The result of the recent French election was due to a heterogeneous political coalition which can survive in power, and to the tastes of an obscure electoral item. Premier Poincaré declared before the general council of the Senate department yesterday. In an address which is considered his final utterance as head of the Cabinet, M. Poincaré, after the new Government could not away from the foreign policy which the outgoing administration followed for two and a half years and declared that the new Government majority would have to closely watched, but given play.

The Premier predicted that France would fall into financial disorder if the new Government attempted to carry out the promise which the new Government coalition had made to the country; the other hand, he forecasted disruption of the coalition if the promises were neglected because the socialists, whether represented in the Government or not, would require radical action on important questions affecting the security of France. French finances and public order as the price of their support.

Foreign Policy to Continue. The result of the election, continued, in no way disavowed his foreign policies which he cleared his successors could change. The defeat of the national bloc, he added, was due to large measure to obscurities in method of voting. The opportunity afforded by electoral system for parties of recent political faiths to unite against a stronger party were responsible for the result. "The senseless hopes of a incorrigible men who are dreaming of a dictatorship or reacting the disquieted Republic into the arms of the most advanced parties," Premier Poincaré declared.

Calling for fair play toward new majority, he urged watchfulness that everything considered essential to the great national interests of public order, balanced budget, individual liberty, reparations and security is maintained. Defending the occupation of Ruhr, the Premier dwelt on the fact that Charles G. Dawes had said that but for the action taken by the French in seizing pledges the Ruhr, the experts would have found no Germans ready to collaborate in a reparations settlement. Through the experts' report, went on, it became clear to world that Germany could not pay if she had been willing.

Tried to Find Another Way. A fact revealed by the Premier was that previous to the occupation of the Ruhr a final effort was made through Lord Hardings of Portsmouth, to discover some other means of pressure on Germany. Lord Hardings wrote the Premier, Dec. 28, 1922, that public opinion in Great Britain would not permit Government to accept the proposition for exploitation of the forests of the Rhineland and for a cordon around the Ruhr as an alternative to occupation.

Premier Poincaré said the security of France was more greatly at stake than ever before. There was no doubt, he affirmed, that Germany was deliberately violating the Treaty of Versailles and that she was reconstituting her war material and army. "Since it never sufficed to be able to prevent war, we are obliged to remain on guard," he added. He cast some doubt on the durability of the new radical Socialist coalition whether the Socialists go into the Cabinet or not.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, May 27.—The result of the recent French election was due to a heterogeneous political coalition which cannot survive in power, and to the fanatical of an obscure electoral system. Premier Poincaré declared before the general council of the House department yesterday.

In an address which is considered his final utterance as head of the cabinet, M. Poincaré asserts the new Government could not get away from the foreign policy which the outgoing administration followed for two and a half years and declared that the new Government majority would have to be closely watched, but given fair play.

The Premier predicted that France would fall into financial disorder if the new Government attempted to carry out the promises which the new Government coalition had made to the country. On the other hand, he forecast early disruption of the coalition if those promises were neglected because the socialists, whether represented in the Government or not, would require radical action on important questions affecting the security of France, French finances and public order as the price of their support.

Foreign Policy to Continue.

The result of the election, he continued, in no way disclosed his foreign policies which he declared his successors could not change. The defeat of the national bloc, he added, was due in a large measure to obscurities in the method of voting.

The opportunity afforded by the electoral system for parties of different political faiths to unite against a stronger party were responsible for the result.

"The senseless hopes of a few incorrigible men who are dreaming of a dictatorship or reaction, threw the disquieted Republicans into the arms of the most advanced parties," Premier Poincaré declared.

Calling for fair play toward the new majority, he urged watchfulness that everything considered essential to the great national interests of public order, balanced budget, individual liberty, reparation and security is maintained.

Defending the occupation of the Ruhr, the Premier dwelt on the fact that Charles G. Dawes had said that for the action taken by the French in settling pledges in the Ruhr, the experts would have found no Germans ready to collaborate in a reparation settlement. Through the experts' report, he went on, it became known to the world that Germany could have paid if she had been willing.

Tried to Find Another Way.
A fact revealed by the Premier was that previous to the occupation of the Ruhr a final effort thus far unknown to the public was made through Lord Hardinge of Penshurst, to discover some other method of pressure on Germany. Lord Hardinge wrote the Premier Dec. 26, 1922, that public opinion in Great Britain would not permit the Government to accept the proposals for exploitation of the forests of the Rhineland and for a customs accord around the Ruhr as an alternative to occupation.

Premier Poincaré said the security of France was now more gravely at stake than ever before. There was no doubt, he affirmed, that Germany was deliberately violating the Treaty of Versailles and that she was reconstituting her war material and army.

"Since it never sufficed to be patient to prevent war, we are obliged to remain on guard," he added. He said some doubt as to the durability of the new radical Socialist coalition whether the Socialists go into the Cabinet or not.

MUST HAVE $50,000 TO SPEND TO HAVE CHANCE IN GOVERNORSHIP RACE, SAYS PAINTER, ANNOUNCING HE WILL NOT RUNAny Man Who Has Been in Public Life Can Get $50,- 000 to $100,000 by Selling Office to Interests
Ready to Buy, He Says.By CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CARROLLTON, Mo., May 27.—Senator William R. Painter of Carrollton, former Lieutenant-Governor, leader of the Democratic majority in the State Senate through his position as president pro tem of that body, and for many years one of the party leaders in the State, today announced he had reconsidered his intention to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

He will not file this year for the nomination for that or any other office, but will continue in the Senate.

Senator Painter's decision will limit the contest to Dr. Arthur W. Nelson of Buncheon, George H. Moore of St. Louis and Floyd E. Jacobs of Kansas City, and perhaps former Judge Priest, unless withdrawal of some other candidate should appear.

The unsettled condition of the public mind, the seeming disinclination of the average citizen to consider seriously public questions from the standpoint of the good of the majority, the growing tendency toward bloc voting with its consequent tendency toward leading candidates to take demagogic stands on public questions or lose votes controlled by the selfish bloc interests, and the virtually prohibitive expense of a primary campaign under present conditions, were the principal reasons assigned by Senator Painter for his decision.

Has Been Touring State.
For the past six weeks he has been touring the State as a tentative candidate, and has been recognized by Democrats as an active candidate, one to be taken into their calculations in the primary.

He has had no decided public affairs in the State than any of the other Democratic candidates, having served four years as Lieutenant-Governor, two years as Senator in practically complete charge of all legislation, and having had wide experience as chairman of the State Prison Board and as a member of the State Board of Penitentiaries, in general and elementary affairs of the State.

He has now decided that this experience will have little if any weight with the voters in the primary, and that all indications point to a rivalry between special-interest blocs of selfish interests in bringing about the nomination of a candidate they believe will conduct the office of Governor in their particular selfish interests.

"I cannot see that there is anything in this campaign for me," Senator Painter said today. "I am a man of average means and such a man has no business running for office in Missouri. I estimate that no man need seek the nomination for Governor and have any hope for success unless he is prepared to spend $50,000 or more. To the wealthy man who can afford to spend that amount of money, I will make no difference, but to the average man it will make a difference."

"Any man who has state funds in the public mind has been made easily get $50,000 or $100,000 to make the race for Governor. He can sell the Governorship. There are interests which are standing ready to buy it."

Tried to Find Another Way.
A fact revealed by the Premier was that previous to the occupation of the Ruhr a final effort thus far unknown to the public was made through Lord Hardinge of Penshurst, to discover some other method of pressure on Germany. Lord Hardinge wrote the Premier Dec. 26, 1922, that public opinion in Great Britain would not permit the Government to accept the proposals for exploitation of the forests of the Rhineland and for a customs accord around the Ruhr as an alternative to occupation.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Signature by President Coolidge of the Rogers bill, reorganizing the diplomatic and consular services, was announced today at the White House.

WILL NOT FILE IN GOVERNORSHIP RACE

SENATOR W. R. PAINTER

Senator who does not vote for it. He immediately is branded as the foe of the farmer.

"It virtually is the same when it comes to candidates for State office. They must pledge themselves in particular matters. With the bloc voting now so common under the primary the effort will be made by special interests, interests which frequently are not at all concerned by the welfare of the farmer, to line up members of farmers' organizations for or against particular candidates."

The insurance fight.
"I have found there is a fight on among the insurance interests of the State. Old line insurance interests are taking an active part in the campaign as are also the reciprocal insurance interests. The stake is control of the State Insurance Department. Each of these interests has financial power and they would win no matter what the result of the election."

There is likewise an active, very active, interest being taken in the campaign by the medical and non-medical interests. The medical doctors are ranged on one side and the osteopaths, the chiropractors and the optometrists have joined forces on the other side. The candidate satisfactory to the medical doctors will be fought by the other group, and the medical doctors will find no ground on which to support any candidate satisfactory to the osteopaths and the chiropractors. Each want official favor. I believe there is something more to the governorship of Missouri than a fight between different schools of healing."

"I have found the wet and dry issue. The candidate is expected to take a stand on that question. To many persons there is no other question of importance in the campaign. If a candidate is not publicly in favor of modification of the Volstead law and for the legalized sale of intoxicating liquor, he is proscribed by a large body of voters. On the other side, the candidate favors any modification of the Volstead law or of the State prohibition enforcement law, he is classified as 'wet' by a large body of voters and is proscribed by them."

I expect to devote my best efforts toward the enactment of legislation which will reduce taxes. I do not believe the State has the right to take more money from the people.

"Of particular interest to paving material men is the manner in which the board of local improvements has made up its estimate sheets. Apparently providing for competition, because of the alternative material feature, paving men point out that the competition is just apparent and not real."

"Willie asphalt pavement with foundation on a system requiring 14,500 square yards, has been estimated to cost $2.50 a square yard by the engineers of the board. Ordinarily it might be expected that this material would have as its alternative the regulation asphalt."

"Not only is the board providing that the alternative in this instance shall be concrete pavements, at $5.20 a square yard. Paving men declare this is unfair, for concrete paving is admittedly higher priced than regular asphalt."

"On another system of streets it is proposed to improve Willie asphalt concrete pavement is estimated to cost $2.50 a square yard, regular asphalt pavement, according to the estimate sheet submitted to the council, is priced at $4 a square yard, giving a differential of 40 cents a square yard to the patented process pavement. Here the competition again is more apparent than real."

Difference in Specifications.
A careful reading of the specifications reveals that while the board demands that a binder course of two inches shall be laid over the foundation when regular asphalt is used, with the patented process no such requirement is made."

"Only the Willie people insist that asphalt can be successfully laid without a binder. Engineers and transportation experts are agreed that the practice of laying asphalt without a binder is extremely hazardous. Under the pound of heavy city traffic, without the binder or anchor to hold it in place, the asphalt will up like an immense blanket, giving a characteristic roll and wave to the streets."

"Willie salesmen, come to put over their product in Illinois, have been singing its praises to subdivisions, men and other property holders. One salesman recently to discuss the situation."

By the Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, May 27.—Adoption of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's World Court plan would enable President Coolidge "promptly to conclude the state now adhering to the court a simple, direct and reasonable agreement," the committee majority declared today in its formal report. The report embodies the Pepper plan.

"In reporting this resolution," the report said, "the committee has taken affirmative and favorable action upon the recommendation of President Harding and President Coolidge that we should adhere to the court but not to the League of Nations."

"The resolution accepts the court as an established institution and confirms the tenure of the present judges. Under its terms the United States, without reservations and without the least interference with the business of the court, will align itself with 48 other States in maintaining and perpetuating this important international tribunal."

"On the other hand the United States will remain in that event without being bound by the court to the League of Nations. Not only will this be true as to the United States, but the existing legal relations between the court and the league will be severed."

Wood Law for Coolidge.
In two important particulars, the report said, the resolution "goes beyond the proposal of President Harding and embodies two ideas which President Coolidge has emphasized."

"One of these," it was added, "is the American idea of a court to which not only league members but all states may adhere—the other is the idea of a world law for a World Court to interpret and apply. Without such a body of law, judges shall be elected to a court of law, but it will necessarily become either a mere tribunal of arbitration or else an international lawmaker."

"The World Court can be attained under the resolution because it proposes to allow adherence to the court by any State recognized by any signatory power."

VIGOROUS SALES CAMPAIGN FOR WILLITE PAVING NOW
IN PROGRESS IN CHICAGOFormer Politician Backing Movement—Controversy as to Its Cost and Durability Similar to That Here.Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CHICAGO, May 27.—A selling campaign for Willie paving, a patented road material controlled in the State of Illinois by Sanitary District Trustee Alexander N. Todd, head of the Commonwealth Improvement Co. and for years a political ally of Fred Lindbergh, is now in progress in the City of Chicago. Regarding it, the Chicago Daily News says:

"Discredited by the State Highway Department of Michigan after tests had been made on a road near Pontiac and dropped hastily by Gov. Small on the State highway system after reports of crumbling pavements laid by the patented process had been printed by the Daily News two years ago, the drive is now being concentrated upon the Board of Local Improvements."

"Willie is the patent of the late Harry Parsons Willie. It is regulated asphalt plus the addition of two-tenths of 1 per cent of sulphate of copper, which is put into the hot asphalt. This sulphate of copper, the Willie people say, makes the asphalt that it needs no binder course upon which to lay it, and so toughens it that the wear on the surface is only about the thickness of lead in a lead pencil every five years."

How Chemical is Applied.
"The chemical is applied in homocyclic manner. Actually four pounds are put into every ten pounds of asphalt or the equivalent of about thirty-two pounds of asphalt in each square yard of asphalt."

Engineers and paving contractors are awaiting with interest the bids that shortly are to be submitted for the Board of Local Improvements has already given estimates. The prediction is freely made that Todd's company will win more than an average chance of success because of the patent and royalty features."

Under the ruling of the United States Supreme Court, upholding the right to use patented materials and processes in roadbuilding, the law was so formulated that, in asking for bids on the asphalt, the bids must likewise be asked on an alternative material at the same time.

Denies Official Approval.
"John J. Sloan, president of the Board of Local Improvements, questioned as to when the department had placed its stamp of approval upon the Willie paving, said that it had not necessarily been approved."

"It is only putting it in as an alternative," he said, "on the petition of property owners. We will see how the prices run after the bids are in. The Willie company says that no one will have the advantage in the bidding."

"Of particular interest to paving material men is the manner in which the board of local improvements has made up its estimate sheets. Apparently providing for competition, because of the alternative material feature, paving men point out that the competition is just apparent and not real."

"Willie asphalt pavement with foundation on a system requiring 14,500 square yards, has been estimated to cost $2.50 a square yard by the engineers of the board. Ordinarily it might be expected that this material would have as its alternative the regulation asphalt."

INITIAL LAWS WILL ASSURE ROAD
FUNDS, GARY SAYSGasoline Tax and Increase in Auto Fees Necessary to Speed Up Highway Program, He Asserts.ALSO URGED AS ECONOMY MEASUREUnless Additional Revenue Is Voted in November, No Bonds Can Be Issued in 1925, He Warns.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, May 27.—Adoption in the November election of initiative legislation recommended by the State Highway Commission for speeding up the State road program will provide sufficient funds to retire the $60,000,000 road bond issue now authorized and insure completion and maintenance of the 7440-mile highway system without additional tax issues. Chairman Theodore Gary declared in a statement issued here late yesterday.

Additional revenue derived from the proposed 2-cent a gallon tax on gasoline and 50 per cent increase in automobile license fees will enable the Highway Department to complete the system at a date not far beyond 1932, he said. Originally set for expenditure of the $60,000,000 bond issue, Gary said. The bond issue provides for building only part of the system.

"Speeding up the program will bring a great saving in construction," Gary asserted. "but the greatest saving will be the users of the roads. The State of Missouri should be afraid of its own tax," which is the worst tax Missouri has ever carried."

Funds the Big Essential.
"The initiative legislation was recommended, Gary said, 'in response to repeated requests of good roads advocates that the commission outline a definite plan to insure completion of the 7440-mile system.'"

"The road question has been the talking stage in Missouri," he continued. "We have a workable law and have outlined a wonderful system. We have graded, bridged and ditched thousands of miles of roads and have hard-surfaced enough short sections of roads to cross the State many times. These sections must be connected before they will prove a real benefit."

"Our road program has narrowed down to providing necessary funds to complete the system. There is now before the people of the State a definite proposition, backed by the commission, in the form of petitions to initiate a law that will provide funds for construction and maintenance. Funds cannot be provided in any other way without losing a year or more in time and a great deal of money."

More Than a Party Issue.
"Being for good roads now means supporting the initiative proposals with signatures, and, with votes in November. In my opinion, that means more than any party success in Missouri."

All candidates for office undoubtedly will make a point of good roads," Gary continued. "The opponents of hard-surfaced roads will say they favor good roads. Mushrooms and toadstools look alike, but one brings life and the other poison. But do not let the candidate stop with a vague statement like that, for we have passed the vague stage in Missouri. To be in favor of good roads now means to provide money to expedite their construction and maintenance and assure completion of the system."

Three Proposals Recommended.
As it is known, initiative petitions are being circulated throughout the State to have the three proposals recommended by the Commission placed on the ballot of the November election. These proposals authorize the gasoline tax and automobile license fee increase, and authorize the State to sell the $60,000,000 balance of the $60,000,000 road bond issue at the rate of $15,000,000 a year. The present law permits sale of a total of $100,000,000 in 1924 and 1925, another $10,000,000 in 1926 and $5,000,000 a year for the ensuing five years.

Construction thus far has been of a "patch-work" nature, in short sections scattered all over the State. This is due to a requirement of the law that proceeds of the bond issue must be distributed among the 114 counties in proportion to the estimated cost of roads to be built in each county, and work must proceed simultaneously in all counties.

Claremont, Mo., has been discussing among themselves the advisability of taking action to stop the work, and several of them have stated that they will ask the Thirty-ninth Street Business Men's Association to call a special meeting.

One salesman recently to discuss the situation."

"The World Court can be attained under the resolution because it proposes to allow adherence to the court by any State recognized by any signatory power."

"The other," it was added, "is the American idea of a court to which not only league members but all states may adhere—the other is the idea of a world law for a World Court to interpret and apply. Without such a body of law, judges shall be elected to a court of law, but it will necessarily become either a mere tribunal of arbitration or else an international lawmaker."

The Half-Holiday Appeal.

THE world is better every day; proof positive some of the religious people are beginning to do a little missionary work at home. Yes, and we need it, too. We don't have to be shut up in a store or business house from 9 to 12 hours a day to keep us out of mischief. But we do get bad, for we cannot see all our neighbors in the organized trades get their holiday off regularly and not have thoughts, "why don't we get the half day off the way they do?" The reason is because we are too stupid. I read in that little book called "The Crusade for Half Day of Light for Every Worker—Warner Every Week in the Home." It read like a Bible of modern interpretation of "Man's Humanity to Man, Make Countless Thousands Happy."

It is a grand thing to a common working fellow when he reads a letter from such men as our great advocate, Rabbi Leon Harrison, Archbishop J. J. Glennon, Mayor Henry W. Kiel, Hon. W. F. Carter, Dr. Z. R. L. Phillips and Dr. George R. Mangold. Our churches came out in favor, but they were not nearly strong enough. They are preaching the Love of God for humanity, but don't seem to make a very heavy appeal for the humans to love one another.

We are hoping they will decide on a wage earners' half day and preach about it. Do you not believe it would have a beneficial result? Please let some of the leaders who are not afraid come out in the press. We need their help.

A GROCER WITH A LONG, LONG DAY.

South Side to Have Y. M. C. A. Building.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

OUR Board was deeply impressed by an earnest appeal which appeared in the columns of the Post-Dispatch a few days ago signed, "South Side." Permit me as president of the St. Louis Young Men's Christian Association to briefly reply to this communication and outline the plans we have in mind.

A survey made last fall of the needs of the young men and boys of the City of St. Louis revealed the necessity for a building in some central location convenient to the largest number of the young men and boys of the South Side. We, therefore, included in the city-wide plan a building to be located in the neighborhood of 4400-4500. This building will contain gymnasium and swimming pool, dormitories for the poorer men, modest salaries, educational class and club rooms, reading room, social lobby and the usual privileges found in a modern Y. M. C. A. building. We plan, also, that the older and younger boys alike, the South Side shall have a section of this building devoted to their purposes. Indeed, we expect to make a similar provision for their needs. This building will be under the direction of a trained corps of secretaries. Young men and boys will serve on the various committees, and the membership fee will be placed at a nominal rate so that the privilege will be available to practically every young man and boy.

The building will become a great central headquarters for the South Side. It will equal in size and in its appointments buildings now being erected in cities of 100,000 population and over.

"South Side" is right in saying that the boys and young men of his section are just as much entitled to an efficient "Y" service as are the boys and young men of any other section of the city. Moreover, he is quite right in his assertion that the South Side boys and young men will be denied these privileges unless there is a building centrally located in that section of our city.

Detouring the Surplus.

THOSE officials of the American Legion who have fought for a bonus should feel gratified. Their efforts have been rewarded—and now they and the members of Congress who supported the bonus will have something to spend about in the next campaign.

I am an ex-serviceman—was overseas with the Marines—did not get into any fighting—was not wounded—and came back in better condition, better equipped, than when I left. What possible claim have I on the Government for a bonus? I venture the statement that my service record is not an unusual one.

It would seem that Mr. Mellon made a terrible blunder when he announced a surplus in the Treasury. Immediately committees were formed, groups met in the cloak rooms, and in the lobby of the Willard and a dozen attempts at persuasion bill and a dozen attempts at persuasion bill and a dozen attempts at persuasion bill.

In closing I want to say that my vote will not be cast for any of the Misnomer representatives who voted for any of these measures.

EX-SERVICE MAN.

UNIVERSAL MOBILIZATION FOR WAR.

In his article in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, replying to Judge Gary of the United States Steel Trust touching the plan of federalizing the steel industry on account of excessive prices during the war, Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board, said:

I came to the conclusion then, and have since been strengthened in the belief, that in times of such emergency as war it is necessary and right to conscript men, money and materials for the national service.

No man in the United States, at least outside of that war board, had the opportunity of Mr. Baruch to understand the necessity and the feasibility of conscripting and nationalizing capital and industry for war purposes. Towards the end of the war an investigation was made with a view of taking over industries for the war, and actual steps towards that end were undertaken.

Plans are now under way to enact measures, constitutional and congressional, to empower the President in advance to take such action as may be deemed necessary to equalize the burdens of war and to shut out war profits, by establishing a commission to inquire into and determine measures and procedures best calculated to effect universal mobilization both of dollars and man power, as measures of national defense.

The Christian Science Monitor is conducting a campaign to have a measure of this kind enacted now, for the double purpose of distributing fairly the burdens of war and of discouraging war by removing all possibility of profiteering on the part of capitalists and capitalists of industry, should another war be inflicted on the country. It has obtained the approval of eminent business men such as Mr. Baruch, who was chairman of the War Industries Board; Grover B. Clark, who was director of the Council of National Defense; Lincoln Crowell of William Iselin & Co. of New York. It has the approval of members of Congress and of Dwight M. Davis, Assistant Secretary of War, and others.

Two of the measures pending in Congress are amendments to the Constitution. Three are bills for congressional enactment.

The amendments are not generally regarded as necessary, as the Constitution confers ample powers upon the Chief Executive and Congress to take any steps for national defense and the public welfare that may be necessary. There is opposition to constitutional amendments on the ground that the Constitution ought not to be cluttered up with unnecessary provisions.

Senator Capper of Kansas, who is heartily in favor of the plan for universal mobilization in time of war, is the author of one of the bills. His bill is a fair sample of the others. It authorizes the President and declares it to be his duty if such an emergency requires it.

To determine, proclaim and conscript the material resources, industrial organizations and services over which Government control is necessary to the successful termination of such emergency, and such control shall be exercised by him through agencies then existing or which he may create for such purpose.

It is proposed to enact a measure of this kind as soon as possible and to put it into effect for the purpose of studying and planning in advance the methods by which universal mobilization may be realized when the emergency arises. In order that the plan may be justly applied and that the American people may know precisely what will be required of them should war be brought upon us—which God forbid—and that other nations may know that in case of an attack all the resources, man power, wealth, industry and commerce of the United States will be mobilized and concentrated for the conduct of the war.

The wisdom of a measure of this kind cannot be gainsaid. The enormous profits of war to industry, the enormous wages paid to those who stay at home, were scandals and were the chief arguments used for advocating a bonus. The force of the arguments was manifest. With such a measure enacted into law and the plans for universal mobilization prepared, would-be speculators and profiteers on the necessities of the Government and the people would be warned in advance that their greedy purposes would be blocked, and that they would have to share with the soldiers and the war workers the burdens of the war. It would have a deterrent effect on possible war ambitions of other nations when they realize that every man and every unit of our vast resources would be conscripted and mobilized for war purpose.

WASHINGTON'S WHISPERS.

Senator Norris was exercised at reference to a kissing story in a hearing of the Agricultural Committee over the Ford offer for Muscle Shoals almost to the point that he seemed wanting in a normal sense of humor. He excitedly denied that he had kissed a pretty girl at an Alabama barbecue and insisted that she had kissed him. The pleasant was the result of a playful offer that he could be bribed to change his opposition to the Ford proposal with such a consideration.

Norris' concern seems to be his fear and resentment at so-called "whispering" campaigns in politics. Within reason this fear is justified. Whispering in Washington has a deadly record. Probably the enemies of the Wilson administration themselves were surprised at its potency. With that precedent the whisper is sure to be tried wherever open tactics fail. The most recent intended victims have been leading figures in the Senate investigations of administration corruption. That is why prominent insurgent figures in Congress go loaded for bear.

NOTHING ROTTEN IN DENMARK.

That the King of Denmark refused an audience to Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks of California probably caused Doug and Mary to suspect that there's something rotten in Denmark, but there may be others who interpret it differently.

going rotten, affairs in Denmark have been sitting sweet and pretty.

Of course, it must have been a violent shock to Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks when a mere King—and of a tiny realm at that—spurned them because he never happened to have heard or seen their names mentioned. It is hinted that there are not many persons in America who suspect the Fairbankses of imagining that the whole world kneels at their feet and eats out of their hands, and that it is their exclusive prerogative sweetly to murmur "Good doggie!" as the process proceeds. If that be indeed their attitude, then the Danish incident of monarchical disdain should be to them a salutary lesson.

IS MUSSOLINI SAVING ITALY?

The interview with Mussolini by a Post-Dispatch correspondent, printed in Monday's issue, shows the Italian dictator in the attitude of a thoughtful, practical political leader, who, having made a prima facie success of a violent minority uprising, seeks to prove that his country has been saved and will stay saved.

The Fascist movement did, more or less forcibly, "turn the rascals out"—those politicians who after the war were making popular government a farce by setting class against class and inviting bolshevism and economic ruin. It has kept order, set idlers at work, fostered industry and trade and stopped the depredations of tax-eaters, landlords and profiteers as well as the mouths of demagogues and walking delegates.

But in doing all this and more, it has inevitably encroached upon the liberty of the citizen. "What liberty?" asks Mussolini. Such encroachment is the right thing with him, for any liberty not defined by Fascism principles must be taken away. Among these liberties may be mentioned the liberty to have as many schools as the people wish. And religious liberty in those schools.

In 1923 a great many "superfluous" schools were suppressed. And religious teaching was made obligatory in all schools. Under the new system, only those students receive free education in the state schools who can show, through competitive examination, that they are "worth educating."

Fascism, Mussolini admits, is an aristocracy. Under such an educational system it is likely to become more and more of an aristocracy. But will not this system greatly increase the number of the illiterate, if not the illiterate? Will it tend to improve the "masses," whom Mussolini sneeringly says he "never flatters"? On the contrary, will it not ultimately produce such widespread discontent with Fascism, as now practiced, that the people may rise up and overthrow it?

RAILSTON AND CLEVELAND.

Senator Ralston of Indiana was one of the six members of the Senate Agricultural Committee that voted for accepting Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals. That action has not occasioned much comment, principally because the committee's majority report was adverse; but if Mr. Ralston should be nominated for President by the Democrats this vote would be pretty sure to figure in the campaign.

It is generally agreed now that acceptance of the Ford offer would be equivalent to repealing the water-power act, which would mean that this great natural resource that ought to be conserved for the public use and benefit will be turned over to private exploitation. That is only one of many serious objections to the Ford offer, but that alone should cause the rejection of the bid.

Senator Ralston is reputed to be a homespun statesman, without frills or furbelows, and with a lot of common sense. He is said to look like Grover Cleveland. In approving Ford's Muscle Shoals offer Mr. Ralston did not think or act like Grover Cleveland.

DISREPUTABLE BUT CHARACTERISTIC.

It was not remarkable that when Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler received thousands of letters expressing the writers' views regarding his address before the Minkowski Society on the eighteenth amendment, a large number of those letters should have been, as Dr. Butler stated, "venomous and blackguardly in the extreme." Newspapers daring to oppose prohibition are constantly receiving such letters from extremists among its advocates.

So, it was not surprising that Ray Howard H. Russell, founder of the Antislavery League, in an address before a St. Louis audience, indulged in personalities calculated to reflect upon Dr. Butler and his family, instead of confining the argument to a dignified answer to Dr. Butler's able and comprehensive reasons for believing that prohibition is unconstitutional and unenforceable. And, like other antislavery champions, the founder of the league expressed a hope that Dr. Butler would be removed from his position for daring to oppose the league.

Since men began to rely upon reason in their search for truth, it has always been looked upon as a sign of weakness for one adversary in an argument to resort to aspersion of his opponent to gain a point. It certainly will not win in this case. To resort to it only strengthens Dr. Butler's stand, the Antislavery League's founder putting himself in the class of the "venomous" letter writers rather than "the earnest and sincere men and women" who refrained from such unseemly personal attacks.

TROTSKY ON BROTHERLINESS.

With the news that War Minister Trotsky has been exhorting 10,000 Russian boys to work "for the establishment of a real international brotherhood throughout the world," came the news that the Russian authorities at one of the Far Eastern ports refused to permit the American world flyers to take refuge there, or to give them any aid, although they were in great danger from threatening weather, as they rode the waves. The excuse was that America had no treaty with Russia.

At the same time came the news of the enthusiastic and wonderfully friendly reception of our aviators by the Japanese authorities and people. In spite of the fact that the American Congress has just passed an unnecessary and unfriendly exclusion bill, which the Japanese people have a right to resent.

Actions speak louder than words, Mr. Trotsky. In this trial of the temper of two great nations, Japan comes out far ahead of Russia. We have aided both nations with money and goods in the most friendly fashion, in their great need in recent years. The Japanese have not forgotten this.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

GLAUCON: Ah, Socrates! We have been hoping to see you.

Socrates: That is very sweet of you, Glacon. You have been debating something?

Glacon: We have, Socrates. We were talking about the charges that in Congress nowadays everybody votes for his own interest as opposed to the popular interest, as indicated in the vote for the bonus.

Socrates: Very well. What is the point at issue between you?

Glacon: We cannot agree whether men should do this or not.

Socrates: Do you think so, Glacon?

Glacon: No, Socrates.

Socrates: You think the members of Congress ought to sacrifice self for the good of us all.

Glacon: Yes.

Socrates: However, you do not know of anyone out of Congress who is doing that, do you?

Glacon: No.

Socrates: Everybody out of Congress is first serving his own interest.

Glacon: There may be exceptions, but I cannot think of one now.

Socrates: There are no exceptions. There sometimes seem to be, but there are not. I suppose you young men have all heard of Diogenes and the quest he made.

Thraymachus: Certainly.

Socrates: Did it ever occur to you that he was looking not merely for what we call an honest man?

Thraymachus: I don't believe I ever thought of it.

Socrates: Few of us have thought of it, Thraymachus. Honest men, as we understand that term, are abundant. We all know many of them. So did Diogenes. What he was looking for was a man who was not serving his own interest.

Polemarchus: He needed more than one lantern.

Socrates: Yes, he did. There is no such man, and Diogenes knew it. No other such point against us has been made in history. We who are out of Congress are precisely as the men who sit in Congress are. We serve our own interest. So do they. So do men everywhere, and so have they always done. Diogenes was a humorist. He knew this, but he was too much of a humorist to content himself with merely saying it. He looked for his man with a lantern. No more humorous figure has appeared on earth than this of the old Greek philosopher looking for what he knew he would not find. It is the supreme jest of all time.

Glacon: You don't make any exception to that?

Socrates: None, my dear Glacon. If there were an exception to it, the point that Diogenes made would be lost. We probably would never have heard of him at all.

Polemarchus: Whereas he grows, don't you think?

Socrates: I do think so. Now let us buy a paper and see what bitter pill Coolidge swallows today.

HAS PROVIDENCE GONE REPUBLICAN?

(Monroe County (Mo.) Appeal.)

Frank Herndon has been on his present farm for 10 years. Back in the days when he was renting ground, a farmer could get 25 or 40 acres and make a crop practically every year. This is in striking contrast to present conditions, he notices, when a crop every four or five years is the rule, owing to leached soil fertility and changed weather conditions. Herndon is renting all his ground this year and taking no active part in farming operations. He has a quantity of old corn which he will hold until a 1934 crop is assured.

THEODORE TRILEY.

SCRUBTOWN ANTHOLOGY.

RHODA we called her.

From "Die Rote"—Red-head—Thus her country women dubbed her. She had been a flower girl.

A Cripple—Coming about from village to village, following fairs, selling her posies and her favors.

In her native land, over there, She sold sandwiches now in Scrubtown.

Candies.

And over little cakes she baked herself. Honey-nut.

Not young, but blowy and comfortable. They gathered round her, children and men: women too, I admit.

Scrubtown smacked its lips, closed one eye and went about its business, undisturbed, when

Her husband was set upon and killed, And Rhoda disappeared.

We missed her: Missed her capricious and her flatteries. Her burnished hair and enticing ways And her cakes.

But Scrubtown was no place for Henry-pot Rhoda.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to register without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspaper editors and publicists on the questions of the day.

PLAYING POLITICS IN CONGRESS.

From the Detroit News.

THERE are several ways of playing politics. Some men in public life are disciples of the old and open hand. They open the gospel that it is better to give than receive, and they give freely, often manifestly—of the public funds. It is their generous creed that a great Government, such in material wealth, can well afford to extend a helping hand to the needy.

After announcement of the bill, there was loud cheering, followed by the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Leaders of the campaign were loudly applauded for their efforts.

The campaign was described as the largest one St. Louis ever had. There are about 15,000 subscribers to the fund.

ASIA FOR THE ASIATIC.

From the Daily Oklahoman.

IF the good old American doctrine of "America for Americans" is sound and just, why would not the doctrine of "Asia for Asiatics" be equally sound and just?

Good rules should work both ways and be applied to all. Asiatic nations have been working the American end of the rule with real energy. We have set them the Golden Gate so high that Japanese never hope to scale them without a fleet of iron-clads in immediate support and we have so arranged Asiatic nations that every son of the Orient is in high demand and threatening war.

If we are so determined to keep Asiatics out of the door, why do we not immediately get out of the more right in the hands of Asiatic nations? Economically our presence there is a standing irritant to the Orient. As we do to others, we ought to be wary to ourselves.

EVOLUTION OF THE CHAUTAUQUE.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

SOMEONE connected with Chautauque has been making a study of the lives and dislikes of the patrons of that institution, and has discovered—of no great surprise—that the Swiss cattle and bellringers and other one-time favorites, including the old-fashioned orator, are no longer in demand. We are asked to have that Chautauque is looking up its ears for the higher things.

And grand opera and symphony concerts are lectures upon serious problems by the well-known leaders in their respective fields. If this change really has come to Chautauque, it is probably due to the activities of the radio broadcasting station for it will be remembered that not so long ago another investigator discovered that the majority of radio fans were women and frivolous chatter and really were not for the "big-time stuff."

VICTOR HERBERT DIES
AT HIS DOCTOR'S DOOR

Noted Composer Succumbs to Apoplexy When Talking on Steps.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, May 27.—Victor Herbert, composer of many light operas and of "Natoma," one of the first American grand operas, died of apoplexy yesterday when talking to a friend on the steps of his physician's home.

Herbert was 55 years old. In the closing years of his life he worked as persistently as when he was in the first bloom of his musical career. He was planning to go to Philadelphia in a few days to conduct an orchestra.

Herbert, who for several days had been engaged in preparing music for a Broadway revue, complained of a slight pain shortly after lunch yesterday and went from his home on West 168th street to the residence of his physician, on West Seventy-seventh street. He reached the doctor's house, but collapsed on the steps and died in a few moments.

The funeral tomorrow will be attended by many prominent in the musical and theatrical arts. Song "hits" have had a temporary popularity greater than compositions of longer appeal that Herbert wrote, but as the short-lived one came and went his compositions continued their hold on American approval. "Kiss Me Again," and "A Kiss in the Dark" are two of the airs by which he is best known, but hundreds of other compositions of his have won an enviable place in music.

Born in Dublin. He was born in Dublin on Feb. 1, 1859, the son of Edward and Mary Herbert, and a grandson of the Irish novelist, Samuel Lover. At the age of seven he was taken to Germany to develop his precocious musical talent. Although trained in all departments of musical art, he at first selected the violin as his specialty. He made his first public appearance as the chief player of that instrument in the court orchestra at Stuttgart, and made a tour of Europe as a cello virtuoso.

His introduction to this country came when he was invited to the Metropolitan Opera House Orchestra as the solo cellist. Later he appeared as a prominent member of the orchestras of Theodore Thomas, Anton Heidl and others. In 1884 he succeeded Patrick Gilmore as bandmaster of the Twenty-second regiment of the New York National Guard.

Next, he founded the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, of which he was the conductor until 1898, when he organized the Victor Herbert New York Orchestra.

Among the later compositions by which he is known were the musical comedies "Eileen" and "Orange Blossoms." His earlier works included "Prince Ananias," "The Wizard of the Nile," "The Serenade," "Cyrano de Bergerac," "The House of the Rising Sun," "The Fortune Teller," "The Singing Girl," "Babetta," "Babes in Toyland," "It Happened in Nordland," and "The Only Girl." His grand opera, "Natoma," was produced by the Chicago Grand Opera Co. in 1911, and a one-act opera, "Nero and Leonardo," was sung in the Metropolitan about eight years ago.

Preparing Overture for Film. Among the tasks which Herbert had been trying to complete at the time of his death was the musical score for the coming Ziegfeld "Follies." For several years he had been a big factor in those productions composing much of the ballet and incidental music. He was also preparing an overture for "Janice Meredith," a new moving picture book, and had just completed a song by the same name. He had been engaged to prepare six overtures for the Cosmopolitan Motion Picture Production of which "Janice Meredith" was the last.

New York's music world was shocked at the announcement of Herbert's death. Fritz Shubert, music director of the film company that engaged him, said that a comrade had lost its greatest composer.

William J. Guard of the Metropolitan Opera Company, a friend of Herbert for 25 years, said, "No one who knew Mr. Herbert could fail to love him. He was a soul of gentleness. His passing is a great loss to the world of music. He was a master in all the forms he attempted."

One of Mr. Herbert's best friends was Andrew Carnegie. About 18 years ago I saw the steel magnate in the corridor of Carnegie Hall when Mr. Herbert was leading the Pittsburgh orchestra. "I'm thinking of heaven and my idea of heaven is to be able to sit and listen to all the music of Victor Herbert. I want to Carnegie said."

The composer was married to Therese Forster, a prima donna, in 1884, and she and two daughters survive.

Musician Dies After Attending Concert. By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., May 27.—John H. Beck, 65, local composer and former director of the Detroit and Cleveland Symphony Orchestras, died in an automobile last night while discussing the death of his friend, Victor Herbert. Mr. Beck had attended a concert and was on route to a hotel to meet the musician. Death was due to heart disease.

VICTOR HERBERT.

KOHINOOR AND CULLINAN
DIAMONDS WORN BY QUEEN

State Dinner Given by English Monarchs for Italian Royalty.

LONDON, May 27.—King George and Queen Mary gave a state banquet in Buckingham palace in honor of King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy, last night. Covers were laid for 150 guests in addition to the members of the two royal families.

Among those who sat down to dinner were the Italian Crown Prince and the Princess Mafalda; the staff of the Italian Embassy; the American, Spanish and Brazilian Ambassadors, with their wives; the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Duke of York, Lord Chancellor Viscount Haldane, Premier MacDonald and his daughter, Miss Isabel, the Cabinet Ministers, their wives, numerous peers, former Premiers Lloyd George and Baldwin and other prominent personages.

A guard of honor, composed of the Grenadiers, was stationed at the entrance to the palace, which was richly decorated with flowers in a scheme embodying the Italian national colors. Queen Mary again wore her crown and the Kohinoor and Cullinan—diamonds. The Prince of Wales sat next to Queen Helena, with Princess Mafalda between him and the Duke of York.

Pepper Court Plan Is Feasible, Says Committee

consent to the league, to call for advisory opinions.

"Eight of the nine opinions from the court to date have been advisory," the report continued. "Examination of the above described relations between the court and league constituted no difficulty in the way of President Harding's proposal, so far as league advocates were concerned, but to President Harding and Secretary Hughes, the relation was a fatal obstacle, and in his message of February 24, 1923, he was at pains to make this clear."

The main question thus became, the report said, "Whether the amendment shall be such as to prevent a legal relation between the United States and the league, or such as to sever for everybody and forever the existing relation between the court and league."

Amendments Necessary. The committee majority chose the latter alternative, and declared that to accomplish the result desired it was necessary to secure adoption of the amendments proposed in the resolution.

"Instead of perpetuating the system of electing judges by action of the Assembly and Council of the League of Nations," the report said, "the committee resolution proposes direct action by the signatories themselves. The change is of vital importance, but can be made without the least disturbance of the court or its jurisdiction. There is no good reason why its proposal by the United States should not meet with ready acceptance by the other Powers. The committee resolution presents to the Senate in exact language the protocol and statute as they would read if amended. No room is left for misunderstanding between the executive and the Senate.

"All the amendments specified in the resolution, with one exception, are merely incidental to the severance of the legal relation between the court and the league. The exception relates to the vote of the British Empire. It appears to the committee to be no good reason why, in the choice of future judges, the vote of the United States should not weigh as heavily as that of the British Empire."

Reviewing the testimony taken at open hearings by a subcommittee, the report continued that "the committee suggests that, by many, the peace making value of the court is tragically exaggerated."

"But nobody who approves the refusal of the United States to join the League of Nations," it was said, "can doubt that the more complete severance of the court from the league the greater becomes the effectiveness of the court as a peace organ."

Two Ways of Working It Out. The proposal of the two Presidents can be worked out in either of two ways.

"By one way," it perpetuates a subsisting relation between court and league, and attempt to relate ourselves to one without relating ourselves to the other.

"By the second way we sever, once for all, the relation between court and league at the interest of a sound distribution of international functions and in order that without misgivings and without special terms or reservations, the United States may do its utmost to promote the judicial settlement of international disputes."

"This latter way the committee believes to be the way of peace."

$50,000 NEEDED IN GOVERNORSHIP RACE, PAINTER DECLARES

people in taxes than is actually needed for economical administration of the State's affairs. I believe the tax burden can be reduced by reducing the expenditures. There is a vast amount of money being wasted, and if we can save it by not spending it, we need not collect it in taxes. I am going to devote my energies toward the reduction of useless expenditures and the doing away with the many unprofitable public boards and bureaus and departments."

Would Abolish Primary. "I expect to introduce in the Senate and to make every possible effort to have passed a bill abolishing the primary law so far as it applies to state offices. As I said before, an average man cannot make a campaign of the State under the primary law without bartering his official powers in return for the campaign funds he has to have."

"I believe the primary workable in local elections up to and including the office of Congressman, but the people have no opportunity to know the relative fitness of candidates for state office. I venture to say there are not 500 persons in the State of Missouri who have voted in primary elections who did not vote for or against candidates without being able to cite one solitary reason why they voted either for or against them."

"The primary is not representative. Only a small proportion of the eligible voters go to the polls. Nominations usually are by small minorities. I recognize there are many faults with the convention system as we knew it years ago, but I believe they can be corrected by legislation. Conventions could and should be governed by law, and the delegates to the convention should be elected at the polls just as local officers are elected. It would be possible to throw safeguards about the convention which would make them much more representative of the popular will than are primaries."

"Political bosses are in their element in primary elections. The primary does not mean intelligent, popular government. It means ignorant, boss-controlled government. I expect to use my best efforts in the Senate to further the road movement, and toward hastening the connecting up of the disconnected stretches of good roads. We must have roads that go some place and whatever I can do toward getting them I am going to do."

INITIATIVE LAWS WILL ASSURE ROAD FUNDS, GARY SAYS

bonds to be sold in 1935, unless the initiative measures are adopted.

Economy in Spending Program. Speeding up the program would be economical, Gary explained, as administration expense and construction costs would be proportionately reduced by letting contracts on a larger scale.

He pointed out the initiative measures, if adopted, would be subject to amendment by the Legislature, and the gasoline tax and license fees could be reduced when the system is completed.

"These recommendations are to meet the present emergency," he stated, "and are not intended to invade the functions of the Legislature." He said the entire cost of financing the program was placed on automobile owners, because they realize the most direct benefits from good roads, through decreased costs of operating and maintaining their automobiles.

"We heard it said by opponents of hard-surfaced roads that farmers should oppose the proposed measures, because the present State highway system comprises less than 10 per cent of the entire mileage, although it serves all of the 114 counties and crosses the State in every direction many times," Gary said. "Careful estimates show the State highway system will carry between 45 and 55 per cent of the State's traffic. Many of the so-called 'public roads' excluded from the system are not much more than private lanes. Many of these lanes are made public roads to get bridges and upkeep at public expense."

Best for Farmers' Interests. "The farmer should not be fooled by talk that his interest is only in the road from his farm to the nearest railroad station," Gary said. "In the day of the horse-drawn vehicle this was true, but his interests now are in the major market in the cities, and he needs dependable direct roads to these markets, with secondary roads as feeders. Improvement of the roads solves his transportation problem. Political issues will not solve the road problems any more than boys can be fattened by an act of Congress."

Unusual Tales

Adventure, Tragedy, Mystery, Humor
From Real Life

By Robert Welles Ritchie.
HOSPITALITY IN MEXICO.

THIS afternoon in Los Angeles, where I was a stranger, I happened to be held up on a populous downtown street by a parade of sorts. I took off my hat to the passing of the flag, six times in a block. Afterwards I met a former roommate of mine, at a college fraternity house, whom I hadn't met in 20 years. After the usual felicitations, and when we had settled down to earth, I think I passed some comment on the narrowness of Los Angeles' business streets and, perhaps, the necessity of doffing the bonnet six times to the block when a parade went by.

Up spoke my friend, Forrest Caldwell, one-time manager of the largest American-owned silver mine in Mexico. "You should fuss about taking off your hat six times during a parade in Los Angeles," he said. "I have seen the time when just once I would have liked to tip the Kelly to the Stars and Stripes. That was down in the State of Durango, in Mexico, when we had this and that revolution."

Whereupon he proceeded with his story. He was general manager, it seems, of the Candelaria Mines, in the State of Durango, Mexico, when a revolution started. Up from San Dimas, nearest town worthy the name, came a cavalcade of horsemen seeking refuge—or better—at the American mines. One of the number was a lieutenant-colonel of revolutionary forces who had a

OFFICERS OF COAL FIRM OWE IT $421,000

Auditors' Report on Condition of Southern Gem Corporation Read to Stockholders.

An auditor's report on the condition of the Southern Gem Coal Corporation, prepared for the receivers and ready today at a meeting of stockholders and creditors held in East St. Louis, showed that certain officers and directors owe the corporation $421,000, and that the receivers are having difficulty finding unencumbered assets.

The corporation, which operated mines in five Southern Illinois counties and has general offices in Chicago, went into receivership last December, following failure to meet a miners' payroll. The petition charged fraud, insolvency and general mismanagement, and that exorbitant salaries had been paid to officers.

The meeting today, held in the office of C. R. Thomas, Referee in Bankruptcy, was called by the receivers to hear the report, which was compiled by Arthur C. Smith of St. Louis, a public accountant.

Thomas and W. S. Wilson of Pinckneyville, are the receivers. Creditors, stockholders and representatives of 800 unpaid miners were present.

President of Firm Listed.

Jesse Diamond of Chicago, president of the corporation, is mentioned in the report as one of the officials indebted to the corporation, and it is stated John M. Dillavon and R. M. Rea, directors, owe the corporation $113,644 under the firm name of Dillavon & Rea, Inc.

The report says the condition of the corporation is such that a statement of affairs is "appropriate and desirable," and that "difficulties are being met by the receivers in their efforts to find any good assets which are not subject to some restrictions as to valuation."

The company was incorporated in Delaware with a capital stock of $5,000,000.

GIRL A TIME WITNESS IN BAUER MURDER CASE DEFENSE

Effort to be Made to Show Bullets Could Not Have Come From Hoffman's Pistol.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 27.—Counsel for Harry L. Hoffman today announced he would produce 24 witnesses to hammer away at the structure of circumstantial evidence built up by 72 prosecution witnesses in the State's effort to prove Hoffman was the slayer of Mrs. Maudie A. Bauer on a lonely Staten Island road last March.

Edith Goldenberg, 15 years old, the first defense witness, testified to having seen Hoffman talking to her sister in front of their home, several miles from the scene of the crime, at 5 o'clock the day of the murder. Mrs. Bauer was killed shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Alfred Norton, Hoffman's lawyer, told the jury he would produce by experts that the death-dealing bullets could not have been fired from the automatic pistol owned by the defendant. He added that he also would prove that Hoffman was not near the scene of the crime on March 25 and that his client had been dressed in a hat and clothing different from those described by State witnesses as the garb of the murder suspect.

Barbara Fahn, a school girl, testified for the prosecution that she had seen Mrs. Bauer enter Hoffman's motor car a few minutes before her body was found. She identified the defendant as the man Mrs. Bauer had driven away with.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Charles W. Hunt, secretary of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, was nominated by President Coolidge yesterday to be a member of the Federal Trade Commission, succeeding Victor Murdock of Kansas, who recently resigned. Appointment of Hunt, whose home is at Logan, Ia., was recommended by the Iowa delegation in Congress, including Senators Cummins and Brookhart. He also had the endorsement of the farm bureau federation and other farmers' organizations in Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

President Coolidge in selecting Hunt carried out an announced purpose of placing a farmer on the committee. The president had nominated George B. Christian Jr., who was secretary to President Harding, but the nomination was withdrawn at Christian's request after indications of a fight.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 27.—Further efforts to obtain reduced railroad rates for delegates to the Democratic National convention have failed, it became known today with the receipt of a letter from C. M. Burt, chairman of the passenger department of the Trunk Line Association, at convention headquarters, refusing to validate to New York City excursion tickets to seaside resorts like Long Beach, Asbury Park and Atlantic City. Burt declared that to comply with the request would be violating a "strict condition which it was incumbent upon the carriers to enforce literally."

MAN IN GRAY AUTO HELD AS SUSPECT IN FRANKS CASE

Chicago Police Arrest George Johnson, Whose Name Is Same as That Signed to Ransom Letter.

LIVES IN VICINITY OF SLAIN BOY'S HOME

Part of Typewriter Which May Have Been Used by Kidnapers Is Found—Hunt for Victim's Clothes

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 27.—Arrest of a man known as George Johnson—the name signed to the ransom letter received by Jacob Franks, millionaire manufacturer, demanding $10,000 for the return of his son Robert, 15—driving a gray automobile, was the latest development in the investigation today of the kidnaping and death of the boy, whose nude body was found in a railroad culvert last Thursday.

The prisoner was driving the same make of automobile seen near the private school attended by young Franks at the time he started home from school Wednesday, the last time he was seen alive. The prisoner lives in the Hyde Park district where the Franks family lives.

Search for the typewriter on which the ransom letter was typed, and for the clothing of the boy, continued today.

Articles Slightly Burned.
A typewriter roller, a piece of paper and a small diagram scratched on a piece of paper are among the new clues unearthed after hours of search by detectives.

The typewriter part found in a trash pile near the home of a man questioned in connection with the case, may belong to the portable typewriter on which was written the ransom demand and instructions for its delivery and signed "George Johnson," according to a police theory. The articles were slightly burned, suggesting an attempt to destroy them.

Detectives spent half the night in digging for the boy's clothes in the vicinity of the place where the body was found and at a spot where two women were seen cleaning a spade alongside a darkened creek on the night of the boy's disappearance. Little importance was attached by the police to a torn pillow slip and a scratched note reading "I will get you yet G. J.," which a party of motorists said they found in a puddle near the swamp culvert.

Investigators, who have been swamped with "mings" yesterday searched apartment buildings in an entire block after it was reported a man answering the hypothetical description of "Johnson" had tried to rent room. His manner appeared to fit the type for which a pair of spectacles found near the boy's had been prescribed.

Rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayers had been increased to $15,000 today by the addition of $5000 offered by a newspaper.

Instructors Seek Release.
An order was given for the police to begin excavating a sewer today in the vicinity of the residence of Mort Kirk Mitchell, an instructor in the private school attended by the boy, who is held for questioning with Walter Wilson, another instructor. An application for a writ of habeas corpus for their release is set for hearing this afternoon.

Missing Girl Found.
Gertrude Barker, 16-year-old academy student, thought to have been the victim of kidnapers since her disappearance last Wednesday, was found last night keeping house in a stable keeper's apartment. She had taken up duties of sweeping and cooking in preference to school work, she said. Freedom and outdoor life at her home in Yakima, Wash., made confinement in school irksome and she longed for adventure, she said.

The Barker girl was taken to the Juvenile Home pending the arrival of her mother from Yakima. Bert H. Jeffery, at whose apartment she was found working, is held.

FLORENCE, Ariz., May 27.—William B. Ward, condemned murderer, yesterday sought to hold two women in his death cell until granted his freedom, seriously stabbing one, and in turn was set upon and beaten dangerously by five convicts.

Just before Ward was baptized he delivered his ultimatum to Prison Superintendent Wm. Thompson, threatening death to any who interfered.

Ward is under sentence to be hanged June 26 for slaying Ted Green, University of Arizona athlete.

H. S. PRIEST CONSIDERS GOVERNORSHIP RACE

Will Run Unless He Can Find
An Anti K. K. K. and Anti Dry Candidate.

Former Federal Judge Henry S. Priest, president of the Association Opposed to Prohibition, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor upon an anti-prohibition, anti-Klan platform, unless he can persuade some other "capable man" to take up those cudgels, he said today.

"If George Moore or any other good man now running would come out flat on these issues, or if a man I have asked to do the job, will do it, I will not run," said Priest. "But I have determined to have the job done if I have to do it myself."

Issues Statement.

In a formal statement, about 1600 words in length, Priest in part discussed the situation as follows:

"Many friends throughout the State, in very complimentary terms, have urged me to become a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination and on an anti-Ku Klux Klan and anti-prohibition platform. If I thought I could be of service to the people of my native State in rescuing it from the calamities that will surely follow the political heresies that are now prevalent, I would yield to their solicitations, though it would visit upon me a great personal sacrifice.

"I am opposed, of course, to the Ku Klux Klan, as I believe that most of the good men who are members of that organization will be when they seriously and soberly think of the movement and its meaning.

Opposes Prohibition.

"I am opposed to prohibition—total abstinence—by legitimate edict, and I believe all who consider the subject in a mind of philosophical inquiry and in the light of political science will reach the same conclusion I have reluctantly arrived at.

"Ku Kluxism and prohibition by force of law, in my judgment, will be the striking issues in the coming campaign. However much the candidates may endeavor to camouflage their views and dally with the people on these subjects, the public will demand of them, as it should, a candid and direct categorical expression of their views. Cowards are not fit candidates for office."

Joseph Goldman, formerly an officer in the Association Against Prohibition and at various times publisher of the St. Louis County Sentinel and Jefferson City Democrat-Tribune, is quoted in a recent issue of the latter as having wired several Jefferson City Democrats to telegraph Priest collect, demanding that he run for Governor.

GARY, REPLYING TO BARUCH, SAYS HE SPOKE CORRECTLY

Denies Inaccuracies in Speech Asserting U. S. Planned to Nationalize Steel Industry in War.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, replying to charges of Bernard Baruch that his recent address to the American Iron and Steel Institute, disclosing the Government's plan to nationalize the steel industry during the war, was full of inaccuracies, declared yesterday that his statement was entirely correct. He added that it was respectful and not controversial, and expressed regret if anything he said had offended anyone.

"The steel industry had been co-operating, satisfactorily to both sides, apparently, with the War Industries Board for many months before the question of taking over the industry was brought up for consideration and determination," Gary said. "If there had been previous discussions at Washington with reference to this subject, steel men were not present or informed."

Baruch, in a statement issued Saturday, said that the Government's threat to take over the industry had been made in early negotiations with the steel men because of difficulty in agreeing on prices.

To this Gary replied that, while some members of the steel industry in the beginning demanded prices that others believed were too high, the differences always were adjusted after careful and painstaking consideration.

"The steel industry was loyal, energetic and efficient concerning the supply of steel for military purposes throughout the war," he asserted. "It would, of course, have been a great calamity if the industry actually had been taken over by the Government."

Gary suggested that if William G. McAdoo, the then Secretary of the Treasury, was concerned about the statement that he was responsible for the federalization plan, he could deny it without fear that he would be disputed by anyone in the steel industry.

"As to whether or not the Secretary of the Treasury suggested it, it was expressly disclaimed there was any knowledge on the subject and positively asserted there was only a report in circulation to that effect," he said. "I feel very certain, if he had made a suggestion based on any information received, he would not now be ashamed of it."

Strange and Enchanting

This land of rare pleasures—

Spend Your Finest Vacation Here this Summer

IT'S the complete change and the numberless new things to see and do that make a vacation here the finest that you can imagine.

For Southern California is a strange land, unlike any other that you have ever visited.

The weather is ideal, for one thing. Days are delightful, nights cool. The forty-seven year record taken in a central city in this district by the U. S. Weather Bureau shows the average mean temperatures to be:

47 June.....56 degrees	47 August.....71 degrees
47 July.....70 degrees	47 September.....60 degrees

Summer is the rainless season, too. Each day is perfect for outdoor fun.

And for each day there are scores of interesting things to do.
Enjoy new sights, new activities every hour if you choose.

Climb the twin peaks, Mt. Lowe and Mt. Wilson, and from a single vantage point see the great San Fernando Valley, unending miles of orange groves, historic Spanish missions, progressive cities and towns and the blue Pacific shimmering in the sunlight.

See the Hollywood Bowl, set in the foothills, where each night in summer a famous symphony orchestra delights thousands. Motor into Santa Ana Canyon and find a solitude, restful, soothing.

Stand on a rocky headland at Laguna Beach and watch the battering surf or sun yourself on a sandy beach for hours at a time.

See acres of oil derricks on Signal Hill, right beside the big city of Long Beach, a strange sight, indeed. Wander in gardens containing the rare blossoms of many lands.

The matchless Yosemite National Park is but a short trip away. It's an unforgettable, inspiring, tremendous spectacle.

Motor over 4,000 miles of paved boulevards that lead to all these beauties, these unique sights.

Find your favorite sport better than you've ever known it.
Play golf on sporty courses, well trilled with grass trees and greens. Many tennis courts are available.

Ride, hike and motor through the valleys, into the mountains, anywhere you choose. Fish for brook trout or hundred pound fighters of the sea.

Swim in the surf. Sail before a fresh breeze. Camp in a virgin forest.

Spend days and weeks doing those things you love to do—that bring the finest kind of rest and relaxation. Find complete change that builds you up and makes you fit for another year's activity.

Come now. Special summer round trip railroad rates make it easy. You'll find accommodations here to fit your purse. It's a great trip to which you have always looked forward. Plan now.

Ask any railroad ticket agent or send coupon to us for additional information.

But come for your finest summer. See what a vacation in this strange land will do for you in physical benefit and untold pleasure.

We held back the Pencil 2 years

To Make It Color-Perfect, and Match the Duofold Pen

Now Ready for Graduation

Birthday, Wedding, or Party Gifts

PARKER Duofold Duette—Duofold Pen and Pencil to match—is built and finished with Jeweler's precision—the newest, the handsomest of Gifts. This Graduation is its first.

A Set that will stimulate the Graduate along life's whole career. The pen with a super-smooth point that we guarantee 25 years if not abused. The Pencil with Non-clog Propeller that turns lead OUT and IN. Its new hinged Clip prevents loss of Cap; it makes the pencil set low in the pocket.

Both the Duofold Pen and the Duofold Pencil are made in Chinese Lacquer-red, or Plain Black if desired—both Gold trimmed.

For 2 years we held back the Duofold Pencil until we could make the lacquer-red color perfect. Just as the Duofold Pen abolished pen faults, so the Duofold Pencil brushes away defects of earlier makes.

And just as the beauty and balance of the Duofold Pen give the hand an urge to write, so the Duofold Pencil's business-like fit and long tapering point speed you to your task.

New lead is easily inserted at the writing point—no need to remove the mechanism for filling.

Stop at the nearest pen counter now—in time to have them engraved before Graduation, or for Wedding or Birthday Gifts or Party Prizes.

POOR PROSPECT FOR ARMS CONFERENCE

Reconciling of Desires of Great Britain, France and Japan Would Be Difficult Now.

By ARTHUR E. MANN.
A London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, May 27.—Official naval and civilian authorities here express considerable doubt that another conference to further limit armaments would meet with success. This is their reaction to American dispatches which have told of President Coolidge's desire to call such a conference if the Dawes report is adopted and put into execution.

These authorities believe it would be extremely difficult to obtain international agreement fixing the ratio of cruisers and submarines. Ever since the British naval authorities agreed to the present battleship limitation, they have been stressing the importance of a large cruiser force. The impression given is that at any future conference they would insist on a ratio which would give the country a considerable superiority in this type of craft over other nations.

Naval authorities believe Japan would strenuously resist an attempt to fix the cruiser strength below that of other Powers. France, it is expected, would insist on such a large quota of submarines as to make agreement on underwater craft impossible.

Naval authorities also feel another conference would have to include Russia, Germany, Spain and the South American countries.

It is expressly pointed out, however, this pessimistic attitude does not mean Great Britain does not believe in the principle of holding another conference nor would she refuse an invitation to attend one. It is not thought Mr. Coolidge will call such a conference before the American elections.

KIEL ASKED TO NAME NEGRO ON BOARD OF EDUCATION

St. Louis Branch of Association Writes Mayor Asking Him to Appoint Member of Race.

The St. Louis branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has written to Mayor Kiel asking that he appoint a negro to the vacancy in the Board of Education, caused by the resignation of Jesse A. McDonald.

The communication, signed by T. A. Curtis, chairman of the Executive Committee, says:

"The administration of the affairs of the Board of Education has never been fair to the colored people, nor in a broad sense, in the interest of the community. Inequality, neglect and refusal either to promise or explain, amounting to discourtesy, has become the rule. We feel that direct representation in the board, which so far has been denied by election, might make for improvement in at least some of many possible ways."

"Such an appointment would by no means be revolutionary as New York, Columbus and Washington have or have had colored members of their Boards of Education for many years."

"We think that we may with propriety remind you that the great mass of the colored people have supported you in your several candidacies for public office; that their support in your last campaign at least, was determining; and that in the action we are suggesting and requesting you have an opportunity to express definite recognition and appreciation of this support."

Mayor Kiel announced recently that he intended to appoint a male Democrat to succeed McDonald, who was elected as a Democrat. He has deferred making the appointment because of the board's failure to agree on the choice of a secretary-treasurer.

Gasoline By the Pound

In order that the general public may visualize gasoline prices in true perspective, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is endeavoring, in its advertising, to draw just comparisons with other staple and essential products.

At today's prices, if gasoline were sold by the pound, the price at service stations would be about 3½¢ per pound.

Compare this with sugar at 10¢ a pound; bread or milk at 8¢ per pound; butter at 45¢ and cheese at 60¢ per pound, and it is apparent at once that gasoline prices are low—especially so when the service rendered by gasoline is considered.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) states, that with few exceptions, no other manufactured necessity is sold at as low a price as gasoline.

This low price is maintained despite the hazards attending the production of gasoline, and the vast amount of capital required to provide distribution facilities adequate to supply you with gasoline, when and where you want it.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), through intensified organization and unceasing initiative, has been a potent factor in the maintenance of low gasoline prices.

This Company endeavors to symbolize that American spirit of dynamic leadership, which combines business initiative with scientific skill for service to the thirty million people of the Middle West. This comprehensive service enables the man in modest circumstances to operate his automobile at a fuel cost which he easily can afford.

MAYFIELD HAD KLAN SUPPORT IN DALLAS

Witness Tells of 'Co-operation' of Democratic Organization Leader; Clarke's Testimony Held Up.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 26-28 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, May 27.—D. C. McChord, formerly an officer of the Ku Klux Klan in Dallas, told the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections late yesterday of relations of the Klan to the Dallas Democratic organization. He testified in the hearing of the contest of George E. B. Peddy, Republican, of the seat of Senator Mayfield, Democrat, of Texas, and his story related to the election at which Mayfield won his seat. McChord is now a candidate for the majority of Dallas.

The Klan activities in the election involved included the raising of several thousand dollars in behalf of the Ku Klux Klan ticket selections, the holding of a Klan ballot at which Mayfield was selected as the candidate to be backed by the Klan by an overwhelming majority, and finally the sending of captains into the precincts who performed the same functions as these ordinarily performed by political organizations.

Klan Election Organization. McChord testified a steering committee of 100 was organized, comprised entirely of klansmen, and that each member was expected to raise $100 for the campaign. He himself raised nearly twice this amount, and he knew of several others who brought in more than their allotment. This committee, he said, had supported all the Democratic candidates.

"Did it include the support of candidates who were anti-klansmen?" he was asked. "No, sir," was the reply. "They were supposed to be klansmen."

"If they were all right in every way, they must have been klansmen," suggested Senator Watson (Rep.) of Indiana.

The money that was raised, McChord testified, was turned over to the Klans. He said that in the elimination election within the Klan, 2500 men had voted. The three candidates considered were R. H. Henry, who has since quit the Klan; S. P. Strong and Mayfield. The last named received 1400 votes and was inducted for the U. S. senatorship.

"Just an expression of opinion," suggested the Indiana Senator. "If a man didn't vote for Mayfield, was he subject to any punishment?" "I don't think he was."

After the witness had described how the Klan machinery had been set up in the precincts, Luther Nichols, representing Peddy, brought out that the Democratic party also has its organization throughout the State.

"Did you co-operate with him (the Democratic captain)?" was asked. "No, he co-operated with me," replied McChord.

McChord testified that before the campaign, Mayfield had visited and spoken at a meeting of the Dallas Klan. He also said there was circulated from headquarters a Klan "sample ballot."

Jones and E. Y. Clarke. E. Y. Jones, secretary to E. Y. Clarke, when the latter was Imperial Wizard, testified that, in June, 1922, Furney, the Klan cashier, "came to my office and wanted me to use my influence with Clarke to hold up the expenditures in the Texas campaign because the way Dr. Evans (the present Imperial Wizard) was spending money it would wreck the organization."

Jones swore that Evans told him he had to elect Mayfield or the Klan would be beaten in Texas and it would be worth a whole lot to elect Mayfield. The committee decided that the witness need not reveal the number of members in the Dallas Klan, although Peddy's attorney held it was important in tracing money. The committee also refused temporarily to listen to the testimony of E. Y. Clarke, the former Imperial Wizard pro tem, on the ground that under the Texas law a man convicted of a felony may not testify in any court. Chairman Spencer seemed inclined to agree with Mayfield's contention that the Texas forms should be followed. The temporary decision as to Clarke's testimony followed the witness' assent to the statement that he had been convicted of violation of the Mann act in Texas.

Every car today is a good car.

The motor car has been developed to such a high state of efficiency that today every car is a good car.

The people know that this is true.

Makers of motor cars know that this is true.

Every distributor, dealer and salesman of motor cars knows that this is true.

And as makers of the Wills Sainte Claire, we know that this is true.

We fully appreciate the fact that Cadillac, Packard, Peerless, Lincoln, Marmon and Pierce-Arrow could never have won their present strong followings if they had not been good cars. And so, too, with the Locomobile and the Rolls Royce. No one recognizes what these fine cars mean to the automobile industry and to the people more than do the makers of the Wills Sainte Claire.

But today every motor car is built and bought to fill a definite need.

This is just as true in the small car class.

For its purpose, no car can take the place of a Ford or a Chevrolet.

And everyone knows, too, that the sturdy taxicab fills an individual place in the public's system of modern transportation.

So trying to compare automobiles is as futile as trying to compare railroad tickets.

The most expensive railroad ticket is probably a ticket from New York to San Francisco.

But a ticket to San Francisco, to the man who doesn't want to go to San Francisco, is utterly worthless.

The Wills Sainte Claire car fills a very specific and growing need which C. Harold Wills sensed and has completely met. To buy a Wills Sainte Claire, under certain conditions, would be absurd.

Not to buy a Wills Sainte Claire under certain other conditions would be equally absurd.

Essentially, you know, there is no difference between dinner at the Ritz and a good, wholesome meal anywhere else, except in the atmosphere and the service.

But this different atmosphere and service, to discriminating people who can afford it, is very real and worthwhile. They regard it as a sound investment, worth intrinsically all it costs.

And so with the Wills Sainte Claire.

The Wills Sainte Claire is individual and different in certain essential respects.

It has more power, more flexibility, surer, quicker control, and less weight.

Its individual spring suspension and scientific balance eliminate the necessity of superfluous wheel base and give it wonderfully smooth riding quality.

Made of Molybdenum Steel, the most athletic of all alloys, it possesses remarkable endurance; and the care with which it is manufactured is incomparable.

In character and individuality it strikes a refreshing new note. The skill with which contour and high lights have been handled bespeaks the master designer.

And, now that thousands of Wills Sainte Claire cars have long been in actual use, we are ready to assure you a new degree of sturdiness and dependableness—a Wills Sainte Claire will last you for years to come. It is emphatically not a passing investment or a car that you will want to dispose of.

Fastidious judges of motor cars who have never before been able to find such a car, have made Wills Sainte Claire one of the most astounding and instant successes that the motor car industry has ever seen.

Happily, it competes with no other car—just as your mashie or driver or putter do not compete with any other clubs in your bag. And the same power of discrimination, the same knowledge of the game, which makes a man reach for his mashie on certain shots —makes him an owner of a Wills Sainte Claire.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

ROY, against the prospect of his marriage to Jeannette, had saved money; Mrs. Sturgis, urged by her older daughter had once again placed a loan of $500 upon the nest-egg in the savings bank; Jeannette had contributed another $100, and Roy's father had shipped from San Francisco a half carload of family furniture which had been in storage for many years. The wedding had awaited the arrival of this freight, and as soon as it came the stuff had been unpacked, of this freight, and as soon as it came the stuff had been unpacked, of this freight, and as soon as it came the stuff had been unpacked.

They had nearly $1000 to spend, but Alice wisely decided, so her mother thought, that only half of it should go into house-furnishing. The Furniture shipped by the Rev. Dwight Beardsley was designed in the style of an earlier day and much of it was too large for the snug little rooms of the Bronx flat. A large sideboard with a marble slab top and huge mirror could not be brought into the apartment at all, and was sold to a secondhand furniture dealer on Third avenue for $15. But most of the furniture from California was usable, and all of it good and substantial. Alice made the curtains for the dining and living rooms herself; she and Roy, on their hands and knees, painted the floors a warm walnut tone. They bought three or four rugs, a fine secondhand sofa with a rich but not too gaudy brocade cover, bed and table linen, and everything needed for the kitchen. Horatio Stephens and his family sent them a colored glass art lamp, and Mr. Corey, consulting Jeannette, presented a beautiful clock with silver chimes.

No young husband and wife ever took greater delight in their first home. They were always "fixing" things, arranging and rearranging them, cleaning and dusting. Roy bought a Boston fern during an early week of the marriage, paid $3 for a brass jardiniere at a Turkish vendor's to hold it, and the plant flourished on a small table in the front windows. They took the most assiduous care of this, watering it several times a day and digging about its roots with an old table knife whenever either of them had an idle moment. When one of the curling fronds began to turn brown, they had long discussions as to whether it should be trimmed off or not. They acquired a canary, too, which shared with the fern the young couple's devotion. Alice had bought the bird because she was so "miserably lonely" without Roy all day long that she would "go out of her senses wanting him" unless there was something alive "round the house to keep her company. The fact that the canary never opened its throat to make a sound—although Alice had been assured by the man in the bird-store that it would "sing its head off"—did not in any wise detract from her love for the little feathered creature that hopped about in its cage and made a great fuss over giving itself a bath in the morning. They called it "Sonny-boy" and took turns at the pleasure of feeding it.

Alice was a good cook. She had a gift for the kitchen, and Jeannette and her mother would exclaim in admiration over the delicious meals she prepared when they came to dinner. Roy would glance from mother to sister-in-law when the roast appeared or when a particularly appetizing-looking pudding was brought in, and at their exclamations of delight, he would say:

"Guess I've got a pretty smart wife—hey? Guess I know a good cook when I see one, huh? Why, Alice's got most women I know skinned a mile! She's just a wonder; she can do anything. I only wish I was good enough for her. She's a wonder, all right—all right."

Jeannette was deeply moved when her sister told her she was going to have a baby. It tore at her heart to think of little Alice, to herself so young, so immature, so tender and weak and inexperienced, bringing a child into the world. She worried about it, wondered if Alice would die, felt with terrifying conviction that that would be the way of it. Her mother's pleasure and complacency about the matter reassured her but little.

One morning early in March, shortly after Jeannette had reached the office, her mother telephoned her in a great state of excitement. She had just heard from Roy; Alice's baby would arrive that day; they were taking her right away to the hospital; she wasn't in any pain yet, but the doctor thought it would be best to have her there; he didn't say when the child was likely to be born.

There was no more news. The morning stretched itself out endlessly. Jeannette worried and suffered in silence; at noon she telephoned the hospital and got Roy; there was little change; Alice was miserable, but there was no talk about when the baby would be born; the doctor had promised to be in at 3; Roy would let her know if anything happened. All afternoon there was a meeting of the members of the firm in Corey's office; the question of the move to the new building was being discussed; it lasted until 4, until 5, until quarter to 6. Jeannette was beside herself. Alice was dead and they were afraid to let her know!

As soon as she was at liberty Jeannette left the office. She did not want to eat, but took the elevator direct to the hospital. Her mother and Roy met her and they kissed one another again and again. Alice was "upstairs" now. They sat with their elbows touching on a hard leather-covered seat in the reception room. Jeannette's head began to ache; she counted the 63 squares in the rug on the floor 22 times; the black on the Welsh-burner in the lamp looked exactly like two people kissing.

Towards midnight the baby was born.

When Jeannette first saw her niece, the upper part of the little head and forehead were carefully bandaged. Her mother whispered that it had been an "instrument case"; Roy was not to know for a while at any rate. The baby was perfect—a fine, healthy, eight-pound girl, and Alice was doing nicely.

But Alice did not leave the hospital for six weeks and was six months in recovering her old strength and buoyancy.

It was some three months after the publishing house had been established in its new offices that Jeannette had the card of Martin Devlin brought to her. It was embossed and heavily engraved, with a small outline of the earth's two hemispheres in one corner and bisecting these, in tiny capitals, the words: The Gibbs Engraving Company. Mr. Corey was out; Jeannette told the boy to inform the caller. In a minute or two the messenger returned to say that the gentleman would like to speak to Mr. Corey's secretary, but Jeannette had no time to waste on solicitors of engraving work, and sent word that she was occupied. The boy reappeared presently with another of Mr. Devlin's cards, on the back of which was penciled:

"Dear Miss Sturgis—I'd be grateful for two minutes' interview. Have a message from an old friend of yours."

"M. DEVLIN."

Jeannette frowned in distaste, and looked up at the boy, annoyed. She was extremely busy, typing a speech for Mr. Corey, which he was to read that night at a Publishers' Banquet at the Waldorf. It was twenty minutes past four; she expected him to return at any minute.

"Tell the gentleman to come again, will you, Jimmy? I'm really too busy to see him today."

The boy went out and she returned to her work, her fingers flying.

STICK TO YOUR JOB

By Sophie Irene Loeb

A FRIEND of mine advertised for help during the week for her country place, for both a man and a woman. There was a great response—that is, in numbers.

At the end of it all, summed up, the situation is something like this, she told me:

"Few workers realize that one of their big difficulties is not being able to stick to their jobs. They fit from one place to another, thinking they will better themselves, and in the end find that they have only changed faces with employers."

"As one woman put it, 'I'm so tired going from one place to another that I don't care what the work is. I am going to stay put for a while anyway.'"

She made this statement in connection with the various kinds of duties that were confronting her. This worker then continued something on this line:

"I don't care to what place you go, you will always find something about it that you don't like, or something that you have to put up with that may be distasteful. It is rare indeed that everything around you is suited to your wishes."

"I have left this or that place for different reasons, thinking that I could get something better than I had, but always I found the same difficulties confronting me of meeting the job as I found it and sticking it out."

"After all," my friend concluded, "pay special attention to the person who has worked for a considerable length of time, as against the one who has had many jobs. I always reason that one who is forever dissatisfied has little of the stability of character and patience required to be of real service."

Of course, it does happen that a person has a run of ill luck in his jobs. He goes to various places, before he will strike one in which he finds himself fairly satisfied and contented. So that occasionally the length of experience does not always constitute the criterion of a worthy worker.

As a general thing, when a person has lived in a family or has been in a particular place for three or four years, you know he could not have held that place or continued working there unless he had been capable of holding it, and it is good for the worker to analyze for himself just what are these elements in his makeup that make it possible for him to hold on until he has really proved his efficiency.

Some of the questions that might come to one who has failed considerably in landing just what he wants to do, might be, "Are you willing to take orders?"

In the first place, a person can never get to the position of giving orders if he cannot take them. Certainly there is often the gruff employer who will give orders in a dictatorial and offensive way. Perhaps this self-same employer may mean well and may do a great deal to help his employee in other ways, and if this is true, maybe the brusqueness of giving orders might well be overlooked in weighing the other qualities such an employer might possess.

Then there might be the question of "Do you take your work in the right spirit?"

Sometimes one is asked to do a menial thing and he likes to do it, but he is not hired to do that sort of work or he thinks himself above doing it.

A wise soul has said, "If you do not do any more than you are paid for you are never paid for any more than you do."

Not long ago I helped secure a job for a man who usually worked as a butler. He was to be a waiter in a first-class hotel restaurant. I thought this would tide him over, because he did not have a cent in the world.

After he had worked in this hotel for two days he left, saying that it was "beneath his dignity to be that kind of a waiter," that he did not mind waiting on nice private "d" ladies but he did not want to wait on "people in a public place; and then he asked me to lend him some money to keep him for a week while he was looking for another job.

This, of course, is bad judgment and false pride. After all, there must be somebody for every kind of work. If you cannot help yourself in one, take a lower job until you can get up, rather than be dependent on some one else.

Ah, yes, one of the biggest jobs in the ability to stick to your job until you can better yourself. It is the one quality that is worth cultivating.

Plans are being formulated in New York City to organize a national and international police-women's movement, with a view of co-operation between the police-women of this country and those of Canada.

THE SENTIMENTAL SUBSTITUTE.

WANTED—By the Tired Business Man, somebody to do his sentimental thinking for him.

Somebody to remind him to telephone his wife every day, just as he did before they were married.

Somebody to invent a perfectly holeproof excuse for him when his golf prevents him from getting home for dinner.

Somebody to send his wife flowers, at just the psychological moment, and with just the right sort of tender message on the card enclosed.

Somebody to catalog her—and REMEMBER the color of her eyes, the shade of her hair, the size of her gloves and stockings, her birthday and the date of their wedding anniversary, her favorite blossoms, her taste in bonbons, and the dress she wore when he first met her.

Somebody to plan sweet, thrilling, little surprises for her every now and then.

Somebody to send her daily telegrams when he's out of town—those "Dearest-girl-miss-you-awfully-thinking-of-you-every-minute wish-you-were-here" things that wives seem to expect.

Somebody to fill his pockets with tenderly inscribed postcards and long, interesting, sentimental letters; stamped, addressed, dated and all ready to mail, before he takes the train for a business trip.

Somebody to invent fancy, pet names and to think up new compliments and sweet, flattering things for him to say to her occasionally.

Somebody to select nice, "thoughtful-looking" Christmas presents for her, instead of the usual "insults" or the cold, meaningless checks.

Somebody to invent fancy, pet names and to think up new compliments and sweet, flattering things for him to say to her occasionally.

Somebody to keep him supplied with nice, fresh, convincing alibis!

Somebody to keep her happy—and QUIET!

Somebody to feed, feed, feed the hungry and insatiable heart and vanity of a woman—and take the strain off his mind!

What an OPENING for a brand-new profession!

What a chance to make a fortune—for any young woman with a brilliant imagination, a good business head and an understanding of her own sex!

How many "misunderstood wives" would be saved from the pangs of jealousy, suspicion and that "neglected" feeling.

How many tame cats and lounge lizards would be out of a job!

A Glimpse of the Curious Island of Malta.

OF the mighty race of Phoenicians, of whom the Carthaginians were a branch, there still remain a remnant whose blood is comparatively pure, and who in appearance and racial characteristics, as well as in history, are undoubtedly Phoenicians today. These are the rural inhabitants of the island of Malta.

The native language of the Maltese bears out this belief. It is a race that was never obliterated by conquerors, though Arabs, Romans and Carthaginians ruled the island at different epochs. It is said that Hannibal was born in Malta, and it is known that Saint Paul was shipwrecked on its shores and converted the inhabitants to Christianity. The Maltese, therefore, were among the very earliest Christians.

When the Turks captured the island of Rhodes they permitted the Knights of Saint John of Jerusalem to march out with their arms and their lives and to sail for Italy. The Pope as a reward for their heroic defense of Rhodes against the Turks over a period of 200 years, authorized them to assume the government of the island of Malta. The Knights assumed control of Malta in 1530, and for 240 years they ruled the island.

Thus, for nearly 500 years these monastic Knights controlled islands in the Mediterranean. The rule of the Knights was ended when Napoleon captured the island on his way to Egypt. It was soon taken from the French by the British fleet, and since then Malta has been the British flag.

In 1565 the Turks besieged Malta but were defeated by the Grand Master Valette with great slaughter. The present capital of the island is named after him. The fortifications of Malta were supervised by Valette and became the most formidable in Europe. The Turks never again dared attack the island. Instead, the Knights furnished a fleet that operated with

Summer Frocks for the Young Girl

SUMMER is slow in coming this year. But if we make hay while the sun shines, or rather if we work while the sun does not shine, we will make some pretty things for summer now. It is hard to make sleeveless organdies and voiles while we sit and shiver, but when summer does come it will come all at once, and will be here with all of its demands for cool clothing.

The first dress on the left may be made of organdy. This dainty dress has white organdy insets in the skirt, and white sleeves, and a double white collar. There are squares of colored organdy applied on the white in skirt and sleeves.

The second frock is voile. This is the useful type of summer dress that one gets so much of. This dress is at once dainty and plain. The only trim is lovely embroidery in soutache braid on the waist. The sleeves are ruffled.

The next dress is made of white voile or georgette. The scalloped are bound with white of the material. A silver ribbon fastens at each side, and loops down to near the bottom of the dress, and under the neck yoke in the back.

The dress on the right is white French organdy over an orchid satin slip. The collar and the plain bodice is trimmed with three pieces of ribbon.

Memories.

MEMORIES that come and go like a vagrant breeze when the brook is singing low, tender melodies. Childhood with its sunny days; joys on fragile wings; through the mist of time's dim haze, sweet and simple things. Glimpses of those far-off years when the future loomed with no hint of pain or tears, as our fancies bloomed. Playtime, worktime, slat and book, sums that we must do, and in every well-loved nook, memories of you! Memories that come and go, golden dreams of youth; hearts that long and long ago pledged themselves to truth. Earth to conquer at our feet, sin and wrong to fight, grievous foes that we must meet, battling for the right. Visions like the morning star, shining over earth when dawn's gates are set ajar for the new day's birth. Treasuring the thought of fame, high and splendid place. Youth, with pulses all aflame, enters in the race. All the fragrant earth in bud, fresh with morning dew and, through tides of life at flood, memories of you! Then the sober later years; work and care and pain, with the ceaseless hint of tears through the song's refrain. Deeper pleasures, wiser dreams till strength ebbs away, and the sunset's golden gleams end the shining day. Such the memories I glean from time's fleet review; every fair and tender scene blessed with thoughts of you!

The newest thing to burst forth in London into batik colorings is luggage. Not only have the umbrella, the raincoat and the over-shoes taken into themselves brilliance, but the trunk, the valise, and the suit case now are done in futuristic rainbows of startling hues.

What is becoming is honest, and whatever is honest must always be becoming.

Better Strawberry Jam Easily Made in 15 Minutes

Tastes Better—Looks Better—Costs Less and New

By ANN PROCTOR

Everyone loves strawberry jam. For a spread on bread or hot biscuits, nothing seems to equal it. Its wonderful flavor makes children of us all. Until now, however, an expert was required to make it, and it has been expensive. CERTO, the "new" jam, making property of fruit, has solved the problem so that everyone can make and eat a lot of this delicious preserve.

To make strawberry jam by the quick and easy CERTO method, follow this simple recipe:

Crush about 2 quarts ripe berries in separate portions, so that each berry is mashed. This allows fruit to quickly absorb the sugar during the short boil. Measure 4 level cups (12 lbs.) crushed berries into large kettle, add 7 level cups (18 lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard for one full minute, remove from fire and stir in 1/2 bottle (containing 1 cup) CERTO. From time jam is taken off fire, allow to stand not over 5 minutes by the clock, before pouring. In the meantime, skim, and stir occasionally to cool slightly. Then pour quickly.

Use same recipe for raspberry, blackberry, dewberry or loganberry jam.

This CERTO process banishes all the guesswork or worry as perfect results are guaranteed.

CERTO positively makes a better flavor and gives pink, bright kinds of jams and preserves, have never tasted before. (Highly endorsed by the National Association of Home Economists.)

The above recipe is for other jams, jellies and preserves in the CERTO method, which is enclosed with each box of CERTO.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Roach Chaser.
Sprinkle borax in the cracks and crevices around the sink and baseboard if you are tired of roaches.

Fine Lace.
Shake powdered magnesia over the very fine lace. Wrap in a towel and let stand for several days. Shake powder out and, if necessary, press.

Save it for Flavoring.
Leftover coffee may be used for flavoring in cakes and puddings but should never be reheated for drinking purposes, since the flavor lies in the volatile oil which goes after the coffee is made.

Burned Cake.
If you have been unfortunate enough to burn the edges of the layer cake when you wanted it to be particularly nice, try this way of removing the evidence: Carefully scrape off the burned part. Then brush over the top and sides with the beaten white of an egg. Dust with powdered sugar and place the cake in the oven long enough for the egg to dry out, about four minutes. It can be iced over this, if desired, and be as smooth as though no accident had occurred.

Home-Made Ice Cream During Warm Weather

Far from the soda fountain—out in the country, at shore or mountain resort—the children may enjoy chocolate sundaes and fruit ice creams of many kinds if ice is procurable and if they are willing to furnish the labor when it comes to turning the freezer. The small boy who is not willing to help out in exchange for the privilege of licking the dasher would be hard to find.

Plain vanilla ice cream can be served with a hot or cold chocolate syrup as chocolate sundaes; it is good with maple syrup poured over it and a few chopped walnut meats; with crushed fruit in syrup it may be some other kind of sundae—either strawberry, peach, raspberry, canned or cooked pineapple, apricot, or any other preferred fruit, according to the season.

Vanilla ice cream can also be varied by introducing different flavors into the mixture before freezing it. A cupful of sweetened fruit pulp is the right amount for the quantity of cream and other ingredients in the recipe, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. A few tablespoons of caramel flavor in vanilla ice cream gives a pleasant variation.

The way to gain a good reputation is to endeavor to be what you desire to appear.

A SCHOOL ANTHOLOGY
The School Nuisance.

HE is an extreme Socialist. Who believes that the existence of a police force is the cause of crime. She does not believe in kissing or petting—Although, so far as I am aware, Karl Marx has nothing to say on either subject.

Sometimes she spends the entire period Writing essays on the moral degradation caused by the aforementioned indulgences; She "views with alarm" the younger generation because it yields to them. Every morning, furthermore, I am forced to read one of her "poems" on the subject of "nature."

An effort which sounds like my younger brother's first composition, But which she considers little, if at all, inferior to Amy Lowell.

And when the labor of reading is over and I gallantly praise her cleverness, She says: "If I had known two or three years ago that I had such talent I would be earning a lot of money by this time." (I wonder if she thinks anybody earns "a lot of money" Writing poetry?)

Her pet enjoyment is to stand throughout the period—No teacher can interrupt her recitations. I am often forced to listen to her "poetical" descriptions of the wonders of the world.

When I would much prefer paying attention to the subject we are supposed to be studying.

Perhaps she's a coming genius—then all I have to say is A genius is mighty hard to go to school with!

The Housewife's Scrapbook

When opening a tube of cream paste, etc., do not unscrew the cap nor tear open the bottom end. Make a tiny opening with anything sharp near the bottom of the tube. Just a slight pressure will bring out all the contents you require. The advantages are: a clean, neat looking tube and no waste of the product.

It will be an economy of time and temper to add one teaspoonful of corn starch to six teaspoonfuls of salt when filling the salt shakers.

Save the broom handles. They will come in handy for moving heavy furniture and trunks. Two handles act as rollers.

WHEN YOU GO TO MARKET

By Hannah Wing

An Authority on Matters Pertaining to Domestic Economy.

SOMEWHERE in the code of ethics which restricts you from "handling" fruits and vegetables is a clause which permits you to lift your selection, be it grapefruit or melon and balance it in your hand to get its weight in proportion to its size, so long as you don't pinch or bruise it and cause it to decay if rejected by you.

This hand weighing is one of the important guides in selecting juicy fruits as the heaviest ones are almost invariably the juiciest. A smooth, fine texture skin on oranges and grapefruit is also an indication of a fruit with a thin skin and little waste concealed in its bulk.

Size is seldom a true indication of quality in the market places. It is perfectly permissible to select gracefully at a pineapple or other fruit whose rich fragrance is an indication of the freshness and quality of the fruit.

It is the height of folly to go to market determined to buy a paragon on a day when the shipment of that vegetable is particularly poor and scarce and when an influx of new peas may have brought this vegetable in quantities that have greatly reduced the price without affecting the quality.

In buying berries ask the market man to tip the box for you, so that you may see the quality and size of the berries underneath. While he is justified in resenting possible careless handling of the fruit on your part, he cannot refuse to tip the box for you, and is more likely to select one he is sure will satisfy.

Pineapples and melons beginning to take on a golden glow are best. As a concession to your enterprise in personally visiting the market, your dealer will probably be willing to pull a pineapple leaf for you. If it comes out easily the fruit is well ripened and ready for use. If it clings to the parent stem you may well leave the pineapple for a later shopper.

Any fruit or vegetable that is wilted or wrinkled as to skin or leaves will be dry, tough and tasteless. Real bargains in vegetables suited to the soup kettle may sometimes be purchased in job lots of left-overs.

Contentment is a pearl of great price, and whoever procures it, at the expense of ten thousand desires, makes a wise and happy purchase.

Again Chatterer Fails

There's none in sympathy to cry When plans for mischief go awry.

SAMMY JAY watched in vain for Chatterer the Red Squirrel to come back to the Old Orchard again the day he had been driven out. Chatterer was far too smart to do anything like that. In fact, Chatterer kept away from the Old Orchard for two days. He took the greatest care not to be seen by any of the feathered folk. He knew that if they didn't see him they were likely to forget all about him. Once danger is over, it is soon forgotten by the little people of the Green Forest, the Green Meadows and the Old Orchard. They are always too busy with matters of the present to think about matters of the past.

On the morning of the third day Chatterer decided that he could safely try again. Just after jolly, round, red Mr. Sun began his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky Chatterer reached the edge of the Old Orchard. This time he decided not to try for the eggs of Mrs. Flicker. So instead of hiding in the old stone wall Chatterer stole into the Old Orchard from another side. He moved very slowly and very carefully. He crept through the grass, lying flat down and keeping perfectly still every time a bird came near. He was making his way to the tree in which was the nest of Welcome Robin.

Chatterer actually reached the foot of that tree without being seen by any of the feathered folk of the Old Orchard. Welcome Robin was sitting in the top of another tree some distance away, singing as he really loves to sing early in the morning. You know when Welcome Robin is joyous he just has to tell everybody about it. He was joyous now. It was a beautiful morning. He had a mate whom he loved, and they had a nest with four wonderful eggs in it. How "Shall I climb up there or wait?" said Chatterer to himself.

could he help being joyous? At the foot of the tree Chatterer paused. You see, he had no way of knowing whether Mrs. Robin was on that nest. If she was it would be of no use for him to try to get those eggs. But he knew that Mrs. Robin, like everybody else, has to eat and that this was breakfast time. It might be that she had left that nest long enough to get some worms for breakfast.

"Shall I climb up there or wait?" said Chatterer to himself. "I think I'll wait. If I can just find out where Mrs. Robin is I'll know what to do."

So Chatterer waited. He didn't have to wait long. Just a few minutes after he arrived Mrs. Robin left the nest. For a moment or two she perched on a twig close by the nest. Then, without a sound save the flitting of her wings, she flew straight over to Farmer Brown's garden. Chatterer's eyes sparkled with greed and eagerness. He watched her out of sight. Welcome Robin was still telling everybody to cheer up. Chatterer dug his sharp lit-

Paris Styles

You can wear a Paris Dress the next place you go

A DRESS that makes you look so pretty. So graceful that everyone admires you! That's what French styles do—bring out all your good points!

And where can you get these flattering French styles? Why in Butterick Patterns of course—French styles are part of Butterick's secret.

The very day new styles appear, Butterick's Paris staff cables the news—immediately patterns are made for each style with a Deltor to show you every single thing about making it.

Paris creates styles—and Butterick knows how you can duplicate those wonderful French dresses. That is why Paris itself buys more Butterick patterns in the famous shop on the fashionable Avenue de l'Opera than are sold in any other pattern store in the world.

Each Paris style demands to be made in its own way or you lose its loveliness, its élégance. That is why Butterick is not satisfied to give you only a pattern for that style, but gives you with it the Deltor that shows you the secrets of making that style so that it has the distinction you want.

The Deltor tells you about fashionable color combinations, about the new materials and which are best for the design you have selected. It tells you just how much material to buy so that you cut your dress out without wasting a scrap. Ordinary patterns give just one or maybe two general cutting charts but the Deltor gives you an individual cutting layout for your size and view of the pattern laid out on the very width material you are using. This saves you material and money as no general chart can.

Besides all this, the Deltor shows you each step in putting your dress together as a great dressmaker would, and how to give it all those lovely finishing touches that make it look like an imported frock.

Wear a Paris dress the next place you go! Get a Butterick pattern and follow the Deltor. You see so quickly with it and your beautiful Paris clothes cost so little. Butterick of New York, of Paris, of London.

OLD SONGS MADE NEW

0 H, the old buck 'aint what it used to be.

The "change" makes me sad and forlorn;
The old greasy buck that we used to see
The edges all tattered and torn.
The old market basket, it used to fill
And leave something over at that;
But now what you buy with a dollar bill
Wouldn't furnish a meal for the cat.

No it 'aint what it was in the days of yore,
Its purchasing power has fled;
It cuts little ice at the grocery store
When you go there for bacon and bread.
Time was when a guy was a millionaire,
With Napoleons of Wall Street he mislaid;
Now a million will not get him anywhere
For he's only called fairly well fixed.

WHERE?
Wonder where all the money used to be before the people began getting hold of it in big chunks.

Guess when they started to make automobiles they had to make more money to buy them.

Or maybe the old socks began to disgorge their hidden treasure.

We imagine that one doesn't begin to appreciate money till one gets down to his last million.

The money that it used to take to make the mare go wouldn't buy a set of balloon tires for an automobile.

SEEKING THINGS

That skipper who saw floating islands with thousands of chattering monkeys throwing coconuts at the ship from the tops of 100-foot palm trees while brilliantly plumaged birds circled about the vessel, evidently didn't get that way by drinking coconut milk.

On second thought, though, they do say that coconut milk after it ferments has an awful kick.

Just as the Browns were getting a finger in the championship pie Marty McManus got a split finger. Not so good.

However, Nick's good left arm is no longer the bread-winner. His face is his fortune now, he said.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
TOKIO, May 28. — Deep gret that the United States enacted the immigration bill cluding a clause barring Japan is voiced in an official statement issued late today by the Foreign Office.

"The Japanese Government mainly shaken in their opposition to this discriminatory legislation against Japanese and they have strongly urged the Japanese Ambassador at Washington to lodge a solemn protest with the United States Government on this occasion," the statement continues.

The document describes the immigration bill and its effects upon Japanese entering the United States and adds:
"Since the introduction of the Jehansen immigration bill, the of the present act, into the House
(the American House of Representatives) last December, the Janese Government have quietly and earnestly called attention of the United States Government to the Japanese exclusion provision. The Japanese Government therefore deeply regrets that this provision has been enacted with the support of the representatives of the United States. It vigorously and repeatedly effort made by the President and Secretary of State of the United States to prevent the inclusion of the discriminatory provision in question.
The statement was issued in the day, after an extraordinary cabinet session had approved the form of a protest whose framing was completed yesterday, and after, too, Foreign Minister Maeda had asked and obtained the sanction of the Prince Regent to the forwarding of the document.

Foreign Minister Maeda today asked and obtained the assent of the Prince Regent to the forwarding of Japan's protest. The protest was placed upon the cable for transmission to Ambassador Hanibara at Washington shortly after the Foreign Minister had left the Imperial Palace. The Ambasador will deliver it to Secretary of State Hughes.

The Foreign Office two days after Ambassador Hanibara's permission to return to Japan to soon as the protest against exclusion was finally dealt with.
This permission followed
Hanibara's repeated requests for leave.
It is understood that the Ambasador is likely to leave Washington within a fortnight. Officially he is merely taking a vacation, but Foreign Office officials admit that there is no chance of his return to Washington. It would not be proper, they explain, to speak of resignation, since he is expected to remain in the foreign service. He is merely seeking a change of post-Government Against Retaliation.

The signature of President Coolidge on the immigration bill does not settle the question of Japanese exclusion, from the point of view of the Japanese Government, it was indicated here.
Relief that the immigration bill with its clause excluding aliens ineligible to citizenship, such as the Japanese, did not represent the sentiment of the American people as a whole, was expressed by a high official in an interview granted the Associated Press today.
"We know that the present
American administration is opposed to the exclusion clause, both from the President's statement and the attitude of Secretary Hughes throughout the controversy," he asserted, "and we understand the conditions in the Congress have been abnormal. We believe the exclusion does not represent the will of the American people."
"We still hope something can be done to undo the action of Congress and wipe out this condition, which the Japanese consider unjust and an affront to our nation," he went on.

"Sustained by this hope, the Government is holding to a policy of restraint and dignity and is trying to maintain this attitude for the whole nation. We are doing our best."
